DAVIS CHARGES SCANDALS ARE G.O.P. HERITAGE

Democratic Nominee, Accepting Nomination, Charges Confidence Is Destroyed PLAYS FOREIGN POLICY

Declares Republicans Dodge Responsibility in Dealing With Foreign Affairs

TO BEGIN DRIVE
Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Having rounded the battle cry of his party, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, prepared today to begin an intensive drive over the country.

In a series of speeches, the first of which will be delivered at Columbus, Ohio, on August 26, Mr. Davis will treat in more detail those subjects which he announced in his acceptance address here last night, which he views as the outstanding issues of the campaign.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—The supreme need of the hour is to bring back to the people confidence in their government, John W. Davis declared last night in his address accepting the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Formally putting under way the national campaign of 1924, he indicted the Republican party "in its organized capacity for having shaken public confidence to its very foundations," and laid against it these specific charges:

"Having exhibited deeper and more widespread corruption than any that this generation of Americans has been called upon to witness.

"Complicity in the face of that corruption and with ill will towards the efforts of honest men to expose it.

"Gross favoritism, to the privileged and utter disregard of the unprivileged.

"Indifference to world peace and timidity in the conduct of foreign affairs.

"Disorganization, division and incoherence.

Declaring that on the record he would ask the voters of the country to pass judgment of condemnation, "as a warning to all men who aspire to public office, that dishonesty, either in thought, word or deed, will not be tolerated in America," Mr. Davis said the Democratic party was prepared to offer in exchange a "program based on Democratic principles and guaranteed by a record of Democratic performance."

What He Pledges
The chief things to which he pledged himself were:

An honest, impartial, and so far as human wisdom will permit, a just government.

Opposition to any challenge—"organized or unorganized, under whatever name or in whatever character it may appear"—of the Constitutional guarantees of religious freedom.

Enforcement of all laws, including the Prohibition Amendment and statutes enacted under it.

Agriculture through revision of the tariff governmental assistance in extending the cooperative marketing principle and by other means.

Reduction in taxation and revision of the tariff.

Economy in government, but not of the kind that deprives government employees of pay equal to that they would receive from private employers for similar work.

Approval of the World Court.

Cooperation officially with all legitimate endeavors, whether from the League of Nations or from any other source, to lessen the ravages of war; to aid in repairing the ravages of past wars; to promote disarmament and to advance the well-being of mankind.

To maintain the means of adequate national defense "until reason is permitted to take the place of force."

In opposition to the impairment, "either by injunction or by any other device," of the rights of labor to organize and to bargain collectively for "an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions."

The protection of women and children from human greed and unequal laws.

Prevent Child Labor
Prevention of child labor and suppression of the illicit traffic in soul destroying drugs.

Conservation of all of the natural resources of the country.

"Grateful care, especially to those who were stricken and wounded in the country's service and whose confidence has been so cruelly and corruptly abused."

Finally, Mr. Davis said, he entered the campaign free from pledge or promise to any man and would "hold it so to the end." Also he declared that when it became necessary to raise funds for the conduct of the campaign they would be contributed "with this understanding and this only: that neither the Democratic party nor I as its leader have any favors for sale."

Expressing in general terms his approval of the proposals contained in the platform adopted by the convention (Continued on page three).

Charles Ponzi, of "get-rich-quick" fame, is shown free again after three and a half years spent in the federal prison. With him are Mrs. Ponzi (left), who greeted him upon release, and Mrs. Charles Malaguti who put up the $14,000 bail under which Ponzi was released pending trial on other indictments.

ASHES TO BE SCATTERED ON MISSOURI HERE

Ashes of the late, Frank Ingalls, superintendent of bridges and buildings on the Northern Pacific Railroad from 1883, until his retirement a year ago, will be scattered on the Missouri River from the Northern Pacific bridge at Bismarck.

Announcement of the disposition of the remains was made following funeral services at Jamestown yesterday afternoon. It is understood that Mr. Ingalls had asked that his ashes be thrown on the swirling waters of the Missouri, a stream with which he and other bridge men and engineers battled for many long years.

Thirty railroad men, including many high N. P. officials, were present in Jamestown from other cities for the rites, as were many prominent Missourians. The body will be sent to St. Paul to be cremated.

SAYS NOTES ON SEWER ARE NOT PUT ON RECORD

City Engineer Complains in Letter Read at City Commission Meeting

A letter from City Engineer T. R. Atkinson to the board of city commissioners was read into the record last night at the meeting of the commission.

"At the time the 36 inch trunk line sanitary sewer was constructed from Third street, west, to the Missouri river, in the winter of 1922 and 1923, I employed Commissioner H. A. Thompson as inspector on this work and personally paid him $700 for his service. At the time the construction work was started I furnished Commissioner Thompson a note book in which to keep a record of the location of the ways for house connections. Upon the completion of this work, Commissioner Thompson was requested by me to return to the office this note book in order that a proper record could be made and placed on file. This request was never complied with and although personally requested several times since to return this note book to the office, he has never done so."

"On March 16, 1924, I wrote to Commissioner Thompson again requesting him to return this book as evidenced by the attached copy made to this letter. I ask that this communication be placed in the records of the next regular meeting of the Board of City Commissioners and that this communication be placed on file in order that in the future when the cost to the city is several hundred dollars in locating these sewer connections, the responsibility for this cost may be properly placed."

Commissioner Thompson moved the letter be received and filed. Mr. Thompson said today that the book had been left at the office of the engineer.

WEARING OF KNICKERS IS CAUSE FOR FINE

Hammond, La., Aug. 12.—The newly organized law of the county commerce of Livingston Parish prohibiting among other things the one-piece bathing suits, kissing, "petting parties," and the wearing of trousers by women, had its first try-out yesterday. Two pretty nurses, claiming to hail from Mississippi, were arrested at Denham Springs, charged with wearing "knickerbockers." They were taken before a justice of the peace, entered pleas of guilty and were fined $5 each.

The justice let it be known that the law in Livingston Parish is supreme and must be respected.

SEEK CONFAB ON N. D. GRAIN GRADING WORK

Emergency Commission Unable to Further Provide Funds, It Says

A conference with the board of railroad commissioners, to evolve some method of keeping the grain grading department functioning, has been suggested to John N. Hagun, state supervisor of grains and grain grading, by the state emergency commission.

The action was taken by members of the emergency commission when, they announced, the state emergency fund was endangered to the point where it cannot advance further credits to the grain grading fund pending a decision in the supreme court of the United States on the validity of the state's grain grading measure.

A resolution of the emergency commission states that the legislature of 1923 failed to appropriate money for the maintenance and operation of the department of grades, weights and measures, a department created by initiated law and which was expected to be run with fees collected. The emergency commission says it has advanced, by way of loan, $12,613.74 out of the total emergency fund of $40,000, appropriated for contingency purposes for two years ending June 30, 1926, and that "each of the members of this commission realize the importance of having a department of grades, weights and measures maintained so that there be some regulation of the grain business in the state." The commission resolution says that "we realize the needs of the department and deplore our inability to advance further credits to what we have already furnished toward the maintenance and upkeep of this department."

The members of the emergency commission, consisting of Gov. Neustrom, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor J. A. Kitchen and Secretary of State Thomas Hall, may meet the board of railroad commissioners, whose duty it is to appoint the supervisor of grains and grain grades, this week.

EGYPTIANS AND BRITISH CLASH, HELP IS SENT

19 Casualties Reported When British Soldiers Fire on Demonstrators

REVOLT IN THE SUDAN

Started When Cadets, Returning to Barracks, Decline to Give Up Arms

London, Aug. 12.—(By the A. P.)—The British government has sent a battalion of troops to reinforce the British garrison in the Sudan as the result of a clash between Egyptians and British soldiers at Atbara, following disturbances in which the Egyptian troops are said to have attacked the British with bricks at their barracks.

According to the British official dispatches the trouble started at Khartoum, Saturday, when military cadets who paraded with rifles refused to give up their arms upon returning to their school. The cadets were surrounded and arrested by British troops.

Yesterday the Egyptian Railway battalion made a demonstration after which the Egyptian soldiers were confined to their barracks from which they attempted to escape. When they attacked the British troops with bricks and other missiles, the British soldiers fired on them, causing 19 casualties. A minor demonstration at Port Sudan was dispersed without trouble.

The disturbances in the Sudan are likely to have a disquieting political effect on the forthcoming negotiations in London with said Zoglu Pasha, the Egyptian premier, according to officials. The officials assert there is no thought of the British government giving up its rights to the Sudan and that demonstrations such as those reported will only make more difficult the establishment of the Sudan status in relation to Egypt and Great Britain.

AVIATORS MAY START FLIGHT NEXT THURSDAY

Reported Ice Free Harbor Has Been Found For the American Airmen

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 12.—(By the A. P.)—The Gertrude Rask, Danish supply ship of the American round the world aviators, arrived last night at Angmagssalik, on the east coast of Greenland, Major Clarence Crumrine reported this morning.

The supply ship which broke free yesterday of the ice pack in which it had been imprisoned since last Tuesday, found the harbor of Angmagssalik clear of ice and weather conditions, generally improved. On receiving the news from the Gertrude Rask, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, announced that he and Lieut. Eric H. Nelson, would leave Reykjavik on the next lap of their trip Thursday if weather permitted. The start will not be made before Thursday because it will take a day for Lieut. Schulz to prepare moorings at Angmagssalik and to return to the water of the bay. Lieut. Nelson's plane, which was pulled on to land after the fliers arrived here.

Gertrude Rask, Angmagssalik, Greenland, Aug. 12 (By the A. P.)—The Gertrude Rask, supply ship of the American world aviators, arrived at Angmagssalik at 7 o'clock this morning. Greenwich mean time, after having escaped from the ice fields which have held her prisoner since Tuesday.

Immediately after the arrival preparations were begun for the fliers and everything will be ready for the American planes by tomorrow. ## CROWE FIGHTS GLAND THEORY BEFORE COURT

States Attorney Questions Dr. Hulbert at Length on His Testimony

DELAYS CONCLUSION

Defense Ready to Conclude Case After Crowe Ends His Cross-Questioning

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The state continued its lengthy cross-examination of Dr. H. S. Hulbert, last of the defense alienists, in the Franks hearing this morning, laying its ground for introduction of its rebuttal testimony.

In preparation for the introduction of Dr. Rolin Woodruff, an expert on endocrinology, Robert E. Crowe, states attorney, renewed his attack on the theory of functional disorders of the endocrine gland, set up by Dr. Hulbert. A Chicago psychiatrist, as responsible for the "mental sickness" of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, which permitted them to kidnap and slay Bobby Franks.

Dr. Hulbert, four days on the witness stand, testified that persons suffering from endocrine diseases are failures in life and so denominated Leopold. He also testified under questioning by Mr. Crowe that there was no recognized leader in the study of endocrinology in America.

The defense would require approximately 45 minutes for its witnesses remaining after Dr. Hulbert, it was indicated, and the moment of resting of its case depended on how much longer Mr. Crowe kept Dr. Hulbert under cross examination.

Occurred in War
The state's attorney renewed his attack on the theory of functional disorders of the endocrine gland as advanced by Dr. Hulbert as a reason for the mental state of the defendants which permitted them to commit the murder of Bobby Franks.

"Might not the lower sugar tolerance be an evidence of emotion?" Mr. Crowe asked.

"No, not in this case," replied Dr. Hulbert.

"What is the significance of endocrine disease?" asked the states attorney.

"We find in such persons a tendency to faint. With poor circulation in the brain most such persons are failures in life in competition with others," was the reply.

"Is that true of Leopold?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Yes, he is a failure in life," said the witness.

"It occurred quite frequently in the war didn't it?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Yes, it afflicted some 30,000," answered Dr. Hulbert.

Dr. Hulbert said there was no man in America he regarded as superior to another as an authority on endocrinology.

WARN AGAINST CUTTING RUSTY WHEAT EARLY

Early cutting of rusted wheat should not be practiced as it reduces the yield, is the warning issued to farmers of the state by staff members of the Experiment station at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"Effect of early cutting of rusted wheat has been determined in experiments conducted at the Experiment station at the Agricultural college and the Substation at Dickinson," is the report of Director P. F. Trowbridge.

"Samples have been cut out while the grain was in the soft dough stage, cutting at intervals of two or three days. The weight of grain per bushel increases with the ripening of the grain, even though the rust infection was continuously increasing.

"Baking tests of flour made from badly rusted grain cut early and cut at normal harvest time show slight superior qualities for the grain harvested at the normal time. It would seem that the early cutting of wheat could not be justified from the view point of attempting to avoid damage from hail storms or insects."

COOLIDGE TO STAY AT HOME

Speaking Engagements To Be Much Limited

Washington, Aug. 12.—(By the A. P.)—President Coolidge's speaking engagements are being held to a minimum and unless the situation changes in the early part of the campaign it is considered likely he will not leave Washington, except for his vacation on any speaking tour.

Aside from his address accepting the nomination to be delivered here Thursday night at the formal notification exercises, the president has only one speaking engagement listed—October 1, at the unveiling of the First Division Memorial.

3 HELD ON BOOZE CHARGES

Woman Had Bottle-Capping Machine, Officers Say

A bottle-capping machine was included in the up to date "brewery" of Mrs. C. V. Anderson, living a mile north of Baldwin, it is charged by state officers, who with federal officers and officers of Sheriff Hedstrom visited her home. The officers claim to have confiscated 84 quarts of beer, 128 pints of beer, one-half pint of whisky, one-half pint of wine and destroyed 10 gallons of beer mash. Mrs. Anderson waived examination before Police Magistrate Cashman and was bound to district court.

The officers visited the place of Mike Kozak, northeast of Regan, and confiscated 40 gallons of mash, one 10-gallon still and two coils, and the place of Fred Bender, in the same neighborhood, and confiscated one 10-gallon still, a pint of moonshine and 10 gallons of mash, according to the state license department announcement. Both waived examination before Police Magistrate Cashman.

HAIRCUT LOST HER A JOB—

By NEA Service
Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—What is the fine distinction between a "boyish bob" and a "mannish trim"? The question is to be settled for the first time in the courts here.

Miss Laura Norton started out to become "boyish" and left the barber chair entirely too "mannish." Some 500 hairs too many had been clipped from her head, she says, and she demands $1 for each of them from Michael Schloss the barber.

The male Deilah sheared this feminine Sampson of the great strength that lies in beauty, and thus reversed in modern setting the Biblical tale, she avers.

She lost her job and could not get another, she recites. And, to set a precedent for all bobbed womanhood, she up and sued for damages.

The photographs herewith reproduced have been introduced by her lawyer as evidence and the rest is up to the judge who will have to possess Solomon-like tact if he is to face his wife after the verdict.

Hears Triplets Bring Bonus

North Dakota pays no bonus to parents of triplets, regardless of rumors to the contrary.

"Could you tell me if the state pays the parents a bonus when there are triplets," says a letter from Oscar Tolsted to the Attorney General's office. "We had three born the 15th of April and have heard that a bonus is paid."

Tolsted will receive the congratulations from the Attorney General's office, with assurance that if any parent deserves a bonus, he should be at the head of the list.

VALUATION OF COUNTY PUT AT $21,914,025

Figures For Taxation Purposes Are Sent to the State Board by Body

LESS THAN IN 1923

The total valuation of property in Burleigh county, for taxation purposes, has been fixed at $21,914,025 by the board of county commissioners, acting as a board of equalization. The figures are subject to change by the state board, and do not include the valuation of railroads, or similar property, valued originally by the state board, nor the deductions directed by law.

The valuation, as left by the county board, is materially less than as left by the state board last year, when marked increases were made in some classes, particularly residences. The total valuation as left by the state board last year was $25,344,018.

The average value per acre of land in the county, for taxation, is fixed by the county board at $11.25. The total number of acres is 950,777, and the total value of farm lands is $10,692,544. The value of leased acres is $224, lots exclusive of structures and improvements, $1,926,659; business structures $1,295,273; residences, $2,257,222. The total real estate value is $18,615,698 and the total personal property value is $3,298,327.

The division of values of livestock is given as follows:

Horses, mules, under one year	2,406
Horses, mules, one year, under two	5,049
Horses, mules, two years, under three	7,815
Horses, mules, three and over	197,040
Stallions	2,971
Cattle, under one year	24,880
Cattle, one year, under two	43,649
Cattle, two years, under three	48,450
Cows	218,560
Bulls	15,630
All other cattle three years, over	5,971
Sheep, all ages	3,225

The state board of equalization is now engaged in equalizing values as between the various counties in the state.

EVACUATION OF RUHR IS STILL BEFORE PARLEY

Germans Insist on Six Months Time While French Want Year to Quit

OTHER DELEGATES MEET

"Big Fourteen" Gathers in Downing Street to Discuss Many Questions

The French and German delegates to the international conference today resumed their struggle for a compromise on a time limit for the evacuation of the Ruhr, one of the questions which is holding up the work of the conference and which must be disposed of before the conference can proceed in a definite way with the program for instituting the Dawes reparations plan.

The Germans say the evacuation should be completed in six months after it has been started while the French are holding out for one year. It is believed a compromise will be negotiated.

Meanwhile the work of the conference is proceeding with a meeting of the "Big Fourteen" at Downing street. At 4 o'clock this afternoon there will be a meeting of allied delegates at the foreign office.

FINAL PROBLEM

London, Aug. 12.—The reparations conference has finally shaken itself down to the basic question of the Ruhr evacuation and the leaders are attempting in private interviews to effect a settlement of this acute political problem which really is not on the agenda of the conference.

M. Herriot, French premier, had a long interview yesterday with Dr. Stresemann, German foreign minister. Chancellor Marx and Dr. Stresemann called on M. Theunis, Belgian premier, and the leading German delegates also conferred with Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister.

Much to Settle Yet
While M. Herriot is supposed to have returned from Paris with authority to agree to the Ruhr evacuation within 11 months, the question of when evacuation will begin and the details of its execution, including the desire of the French and Belgians to keep their nationals on the railways, must be settled among the French, Belgians, English and Germans before a conference can proceed in a definite way with the program for instituting the Dawes plan.

Reports from all three committees of the conference have been agreed to in principle, but the jurists are busy studying and editing the protocols which are not yet in final form. The opinion now seems general in conference circles that the outcome will be definitely settled by Thursday or Friday, and the majority opinion is decidedly optimistic respecting the results.

FORD'S NAME ON BALLOT

Will Be Listed as Candidate Unless He Quits Yet Today

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 12.—Certification of the name of various candidates who will appear on the primary ballot in Michigan September 9 probably will be completed today and will include that of Henry Ford for the Republican nomination unless he formally withdraws before the certifications are placed in the mails.

This announcement was made by the Secretary of State, who ordered after the certifications to county clerks have been placed in the mails, only court action can remove the name of any candidate certified.

While intimations were contained in advices from Sudbury, Mass., where Mr. Ford is resting, that formal request to remove his name from the ballot would be made to the Secretary of State, no word had been received from him this forenoon.

APPLICATION IS DENIED

New York, Aug. 12.—Judge Benjamin Cordova today denied the application of William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, for a certificate of reasonable doubt, which would have permitted Anderson to leave Sing Sing on bail pending disposition of his appeal. Anderson is serving a term for forgery.

Water drawn from artesian wells from below the Sahara Desert contained small crabs and other fish all living.

According to the British official dispatches the trouble started at Khartoum, Saturday, when military cadets who paraded with rifles refused to give up their arms upon returning to their school. The cadets were surrounded and arrested by British troops.

Yesterday the Egyptian Railway battalion made a demonstration after which the Egyptian soldiers were confined to their barracks from which they attempted to escape. When they attacked the British troops with bricks and other missiles, the British soldiers fired on them, causing 19 casualties. A minor demonstration at Port Sudan was dispersed without trouble.

The disturbances in the Sudan are likely to have a disquieting political effect on the forthcoming negotiations in London with said Zogheb Pasha, the Egyptian premier, according to officials. The officials assert there is no thought of the British government giving up its rights to the Sudan and that demonstrations such as those reported will only make more difficult the establishment of the Sudan state in relation to Egypt and Great Britain.

CROWE FIGHTS GLAND THEORY BEFORE COURT

States Attorney Questions Dr. Hulbert at Length on His Testimony

DELAYS CONCLUSION

Defense Ready to Conclude Case After Crowe Ends His Cross-Questioning

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The state continued its lengthy cross-examination of Dr. H. S. Hulbert, last of the defense attorneys, in the Franks hearing this morning, laying its ground for introduction of its rebuttal testimony.

In preparation for the introduction of Dr. Rolfin Woodyatt, an expert on endocrinology, Robert E. Crowe, states attorney, renewed his attack on the theory of functional disorders of the endocrine gland, as set up by Dr. Hulbert, Chicago psychiatrist, as responsible for the "mental sickness" of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, which permitted them to kidnap and slay Bobby Franks.

Witness stand, testified that persons suffering from endocrine diseases are failures in life and so denominated Leopold. He also testified under questioning by Mr. Crowe that there was no recognized leader in the study of endocrinology in America.

The defense would require approximately 45 minutes for its witnesses remaining after Dr. Hulbert, it was indicated, and the moment of resting of its case depended on how much longer Mr. Crowe kept Dr. Hulbert under cross-examination.

Occurred in War
The state's attorney renewed his attack on the theory of functional disorders of the endocrine gland as advanced by Dr. Hulbert as a reason for the mental state of the defendants which permitted them to commit the murder of Bobby Franks.

"Might not the lower sugar tolerance be an evidence of emotion?" Mr. Crowe asked.

"No, not in this case," replied Dr. Hulbert.

"Is the significance of endocrine disease?" asked the states attorney.

"We find in such persons a tendency to faint. With poor circulation in the brain most such persons are failures in life in competition with others of the same age."

"Is that true of Leopold?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Yes, he is a failure in life," said the witness.

"It occurred quite frequently in the war didn't it?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Yes," answered Dr. Hulbert, "I saw Dr. Hulbert said there was no man in America he regarded as superior to another as an authority on endocrinology."

3 HELD ON BOOZE CHARGES

Woman Had Bottle-Capping Machine, Officers Say

A bottle-capping machine was included in the up to date "brewery" of Mrs. G. V. Anderson, living a mile north of Baldwin, it is charged by state officers, who with federal officers and officers of Sheriff Hedstrom visited her home. The officers claim to have confiscated 94 quarts of beer, 136 pints of beer, one-half pint of whiskey, one-half pint of wine and destroyed 40 gallons of beer mash.

Mrs. Anderson waived examination before Police Magistrate Cashman here and was bound to district court.

The officers visited the place of Mike Kosak, northeast of Regan, and confiscated 40 gallons of mash, one 10-gallon still and two coils, and the pipe of Fred Bender, in the same neighborhood, and confiscated one 10-gallon still, a pint of moonshine and 10 gallons of mash, according to the state license department announcement. Both waived examination before Police Magistrate Cashman.

HAIRCUT LOST HER A JOB—

BEFORE AND AFTER

By NEA Service
Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—What is the fine distinction between a "boyish bob" and a "mannish trim"? The question is to be settled for the first time in the courts here.

Miss Laura Norton started out to become "boyish" and left the barber chair entirely too "mannish." Some 500 hairs too many had been clipped from her head, she says, and she demands $1 for each of them from Michael Schloss the barber.

The male Deillah sheared this feminine Sampson of the great strength that lies in beauty, and thus reversed in modern setting the Biblical tale, she avers.

She lost her job and could not get another, she recites. And, to set a precedent for all bobbed womanhood, she up and sued for damages.

The photographs herewith reproduced have been introduced by her lawyer as evidence and the rest is up to the judge who will have to possess Solomon-like tact if he is to face his wife after the verdict.

WARN AGAINST CUTTING RUSTY WHEAT EARLY

Early cutting of rusted wheat should not be practiced as it reduces the yield, is the warning issued to farmers of the state by staff members of the Experiment station at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"Effect of early cutting of rusted wheat has been determined in experiments conducted at the Experiment station at the Agricultural college and the Substation at Dickinson," is the report of Director P. F. Trowbridge. "Samples have been cut while the grain was in the soft dough stage, cutting at intervals of two or three days. The weight of grain per bushel increases with the ripening of the grain, even though the rust infection was continuously increasing."

"Baking tests of flour made from badly rusted grain cut early and cut at normal harvest time show slight superior qualities for the grain harvested at the normal time. It would seem that the early cutting of wheat could not be justified from the view point of attempting to avoid damage from hail storms or insects."

EVACUATION OF RUHR IS STILL BEFORE PARLEY

Germans Insist on Six Months Time While French Want Year to Quit

OTHER DELEGATES MEET

"Big Fourteen" Gathers in Downing Street to Discuss Many Questions

The French and German delegates to the international conference today resumed their struggle over a compromise on a time limit for the evacuation of the Ruhr, one of the questions which is holding up the work of the conference and which must be disposed of before the conference can proceed in a definite way with the program for instituting the Dawes reparation plan.

The Germans say the evacuation should be completed in six months after it has been started while the French are holding out for one year. It is believed a compromise will be negotiated.

Meanwhile the work of the conference is proceeding with a meeting of the "Big Fourteen" at Downing street. At 4 o'clock this afternoon there will be a meeting of allied delegates at the foreign office.

FINAL PROBLEM
London, Aug. 12.—The reparations conference has finally taken itself down to the basic question of the Ruhr evacuation and the leaders are attempting in private interviews to effect a settlement of this acute political problem; which really is not on the agenda of the conference.

M. Herriot, French premier, had a long interview yesterday with Dr. Stresemann, German foreign minister. Chancellor Marx and Dr. Stresemann called on M. Theunis, Belgian premier, and the leading German delegates also conferred with Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister.

Much to Settle Yet
While M. Herriot is supposed to have returned from Paris with authority to agree to the Ruhr evacuation within 11 months, the question of when evacuation will begin and the details of its execution, including the desire of the French and Belgians to keep their nationals on the railways, must be settled among the French, Belgians, English and Germans before the conference can proceed in a definite way with the program for instituting the Dawes plan.

Reports from all three committees of the conference have been agreed to in principle, but the jurists are busy studying and editing the protocols which are not yet in final form. The opinion now seems general in conference circles that the outcome will be definitely settled by Thursday or Friday, and the majority opinion is decidedly optimistic respecting the results.

Figures for Taxation Purposes Are Sent to the State Board by Body

LESS THAN IN 1923

The total valuation of property in Burleigh county, for taxation purposes, has been fixed at $21,914,025 by the board of county commissioners, acting as a board of equalization. The figures are subject to change by the state board, and do not include the valuation of railroads, or similar property, valued originally by the state board, nor the deductions directed by law.

The valuation, as left by the county board, is materially less than as left by the state board last year, when marked increases were made in some classes, particularly residences. The total valuation as left by the state board last year was $25,354,038.

The average value per acre of land in the county for taxation is fixed by the county board at $13.25. The total number of acres is 990,777, and the total value of farm lands is $13,132,548. The value of leased sites is $224; lots exclusive of structures and improvements, $1,929,669; business structures, $1,295,473; residences, $2,257,222. ### FORD'S NAME ON BALLOT

Will Be Listed as Candidate Unless He Quits Yet Today

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 12.—Certification of the name of various candidates who will appear on the primary ballot in Michigan September 9 probably will be completed today and will include that of Henry Ford for the Republican senatorial nomination unless he formally withdraws before the certifications are placed in the mails.

This announcement was made by the Secretary of State, who ordered after the certifications to county clerks have been placed in the mails, only court action can remove the name of any candidate certified.

While intimations were contained in advices from Sudbury, Mass., where Mr. Ford is resting, that a formal request to remove his name from the ballot would be made to the Secretary of State, no word had been received from him this forenoon.

APPLICATION IS DENIED

New York, Aug. 12.—Judge Benjamin Cardozo today denied the application of William H. ## DRIVE STARTED FOR JOBS FOR DISABLED VETS

Reclaimed Through Rehabilitation Work. They Are Ready Again for Civil Life

SHOW MUCH PROGRESS

Washington, Aug. 11. With approximately 1,000 disabled American veterans of the recent World War completing their training for new vocations with the U. S. Veterans Bureau monthly, General Frank T. Hines, director of the Bureau, today made an appeal to employers of trained men in every state, county, city, and hamlet of the country to give these men an opportunity to again become a part of the productive fabric of the nation.

"These men and women served their country at a time of great need and they now ask only a fair chance to find employment along the lines in which they have received their training," said Director Hines.

During the month of July, 712 ex-service men from the schools of the Veterans Bureau will seek employment. The six months from July to December, inclusive, will find 15,882 veterans rehabilitated.

General Hines expressed his appreciation of the assistance the Bureau has already received in finding places for the rehabilitated men. Only 500 out of 67,000 men and women trained by the Bureau in its fourteen districts were unemployed on June 1, 1924.

52,000 In Training

There were left in training on July 1, 1924, 52,000 disabled veterans. These men and women, as a result of wounds received in battle and of sickness and injuries received in military service during the recent war, were made incapable of carrying on in their particular lines of occupation that they pursued before entering service. The U. S. Government is endeavoring to educate and train them so they will be able to make their living in new lines of occupation wherein their physical and mental abilities will be equal to the demands made upon them.

"The Veterans Bureau can go only so far in the rehabilitation of these former service men," General Hines declared. "It can take them out of the training camps and place them at the point of employability and then it must call upon the various employing agencies of the country to carry on from that point."

The great majority of those being rehabilitated are normal in appearance, normal in ability and normal in their desire to be self-sustaining and to make a success of their lives for the sake of themselves, their dependents and their fellow men in general.

Men with one arm are trained for work in which only one arm is brought into use. Men and women who have lost their sight or hearing are trained for work in which these senses are not absolutely necessary.

Less than 50 percent of the trainees have an apparent disability and more than 90 percent of them are able men. Their disabilities consist of handicaps only insofar as their pre-war occupations are concerned. On July 1, 1924, the Bureau had in training 7,700 men and women in the professions. In the commercial field, 11,000 were in training. In the trades and industries there were being trained 26,000 and in agriculture 7,300 men and women.

The majority of these men and women have been in training for more than two years, some three years, and others even four years. They have been enrolled at the country's best universities, colleges, trade schools, and commercial schools or have been given regular apprenticeship training "on the job" in factories and workshops.

Give Service

Reports being received at the Central office in Washington indicate that employers of America's rehabilitated ex-service men and women find that they give satisfactory service.

Transportation expenses to bona fide employment opportunities are defrayed by the Veterans Bureau.

In District Ten, comprising Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota 739 men will be available for employment during the next six months.

MANY SEEK AIR PASSAGE

Would Make Trip to America on Passenger Liner

Berlin, Aug. 11. More than 1,000 men and women have requested the Zeppelin Airship company to make reservations for them for the maiden flight across the Atlantic of America's new air passenger liner, the U.S. Navy.

It is now believed the flight will start from Friedrichshafen about the middle of September. The thousand would be passengers are doomed to disappointment, however, as no passengers can be carried, all the available places being for future officers of the airships.

The filling of the big ship's passenger list will start next week, and the trial flight will be held at the end of this month. According to reports here, American warships will form a chain along the trans-Atlantic route to safeguard the flight.

tails of the hops. The recommendations of the fliers will guide us to a degree in attempting future conquests.

"After the flight is over it will be much easier to plan another, which will get around quicker and with fewer difficulties. Undoubtedly the next reconquest of the schedule will include the Azores as our principal stepping stone across the Atlantic and the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines as our main bases in the Pacific.

"I think our hops in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, varying from 135 to 555 miles, were too long, considering the severity of the weather. More stops of 100 miles distance would probably be recommended for any other flight taken over that course.

Greater Flying Radius Needed

"Our Douglas world cruises were built to hop safely 600 to 750 miles, without alighting, or 60 to 70 miles an hour during ten hours. The plane of the future must have a considerably greater radius.

"A non-stop flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, 2,600 miles, is the thing of the near future. Kelley and Mackleady traveled that far in a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego.

"Wake Islands and others westward form a natural bridge to the Philippines.

"In the Atlantic, the navy's fliers in 1919 demonstrated the practicability of flying without a stop from New Foundland to the Azores, 1,200 miles, and then to Portugal, 900 miles farther.

"We may expect to see the leading nations establish regular air service for passengers and mail around the world in the near future, and the magnificent performance of our army airmen will speed the day."

The 24 HOUR MAN of Modern Business

Let us look at a three-ring circus and marvel. Here are literally hundreds of people, hundreds of animals, and more paraphernalia than you find in a small-sized factory—all on the move.

Here is a complete city, set up every day in a strange place—giving a parade and two performances—taken down, packed away, loaded on a train, moved to another city and set up again.

Any business can learn something about efficiency from a circus.

Take the "24-hour man" as one example.

The "24-hour man" goes one day ahead of the circus. He contracts for all the food for this army of performers. He arranges to have a local bakery deliver bread; he buys vegetables and meat; he buys tons of hay for the horses and elephants.

The "24-hour man" sees the city officials. He arranges for a license; he arranges for water, piped to "the lot," sometimes he arranges for electricity, he sees that "the lot" itself is clear and ready for occupancy the next day.

Then comes the circus. All it has to do is go to "the lot," set up, give its parade and its two performances.

If it were not for the "24-hour man" the circus itself would stand a fair chance of wasting its time and spending its energy running down and taking care of the details which one man handled so efficiently the day before.

Does Your Business Need a 24-Hour Man?

The "24-hour man" of business is printing.

Printing takes care of a thousand details which would otherwise fall upon a salesman.

Printing thus helps your salesman—whether they are in a retail store or traveling "on the road." It enables your salesman to perform as they are intended to perform—by bringing in sales.

Without printing, any salesman must waste time in explaining your policy—building confidence—explaining the merits of merchandise—removing obstacles to buying, from the purchaser's mind.

With printing, you can do these things for your salesman.

That's just one advantage of printing. Let us tell you more of them.

These five, R. T. Barnard, John Martin, both of Fargo; Bert Nierling, Jamestown; Ned with 82 each on the first 18 holes of the qualifying rounds and Tom Hull of Fargo and Ray Anderson of Grand Forks with 83, are battling today for medalist honors, the balance of

FOR SPRINTING: PIANO LEGS OR PIPE STEMS?

America's Record - Breaking Relay Team Found Both Types Useful

A Variety of Legs, All Gaited for Speed

HEADS, LEFT TO RIGHT, HUSSEY, CLARKE, MURCHISON, LEONECY. LEGS, DITTO.

By Joe Williams

"He's built like a sprinter."
What are the standard specifications of the sprinter? If any.
Speaking of horses and humans.
Man o' War was one of the greatest sprinters ever foaled. Likewise one of the most beautiful horses that ever faced the barrier. Man o' War had the perfect race horse build, a long body, lean flanks, fragile legs that tapered off to pipe-stem proportions.
And he was a blue-blood.
Morvich followed Man o' War. Morvich won the Kentucky Derby and other notable events. Morvich looked as much like Man o' War as an ash heap resembles Gibraltar. He was thick and heavy and unsymmetrical. But, Gus, the old nag sure could step!
And there's Black Gold, this year's the field being four strokes behind. Match play in the first rounds of the various flights begins this afternoon.

Bismarck golfers made the following 18-hole scores in the qualifying rounds: W. F. Gettemann, 103; Phil Meyer, 95; E. B. Cox 87. Charles Wattam of Fargo, formerly of Bismarck, made 95 in the qualifying round.

JACK RENAULT BEATS MADDEN

New York, Aug. 12.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, decisively outpointed Bartley Madden, tough New York Irishman, in a 15 round match at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City last night. The Canadian bested his opponent in every exchange but his blows lacked the steam to knock out Madden nor even to send him to the floor. The Irishman was badly cut about the face at the termination of the contest.

DAVIS CHARGES SCANDALS ARE G.O.P. HERITAGE

vention which nominated him, the candidate said he would not be expected at this moment to discuss them in detail or to outline the methods by which they are to be carried into effect.

"There will be time enough for that," he said.
Much of his address was given over to a measured attack upon the record of the Republican party during the past four years. Recounting what he termed "the multiplied scandals of these melancholy years," Mr. Davis assailed the Executive Branch of government for "hurried efforts to suppress testimony, to discourage witnesses, to spy upon investigators and, finally, by trumped up indictment, to frighten and deter the investigators from their pursuit."

He charged that in the enactment of the present tariff law there was "an unblinking return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contribution with legislative favors." Also he charged inability of the administration to function due to disagreement between the President and the Republican majority in Congress to agree on public questions.

World Affairs
Declaring that it was not in domestic matters alone that the symptoms of this "creeping paralysis" have appeared, Mr. Davis said that not only have Executive recommendations for adherence to the World Court been "floated and ignored, but no evidence is in sight that the Republican party as now constituted can frame and carry to its conclusions any definite and consistent foreign policy."

"With the reconstruction of Europe weighing heavily on the world," he said, "with American economic life dwarfed and stunted by the interruption of world commerce; with the agricultural regions of the West sinking into bankruptcy because of the loss of their foreign markets; we have stood by as powerless spectators, offering to the world nothing but private charity and individual advice."

Moving from this attack on the opposition to a discussion of other issues, Mr. Davis saved to the last his utterances on the subject which was the basis of a bitter fight in the New York convention: religious freedom. Without referring by name to any organizations, the nominee said he wished to "denounce bigotry, intolerance and race prejudice as alien to the spirit of America" and promised that when elected, he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin" as a qualification for any of the thousands of offices he would be called upon to fill.

For the aid of the farmer, Mr. Davis said the Democrats proposed to see to it that the discriminations which the tariff makes against him shall be removed; that this government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets; that the forces of government shall be put actively to work to lend assistance to endeavors for extending the principle of cooperative marketing; that when widespread distress has overtaken him, every power which the government enjoys under the Constitution shall be exerted in his aid.

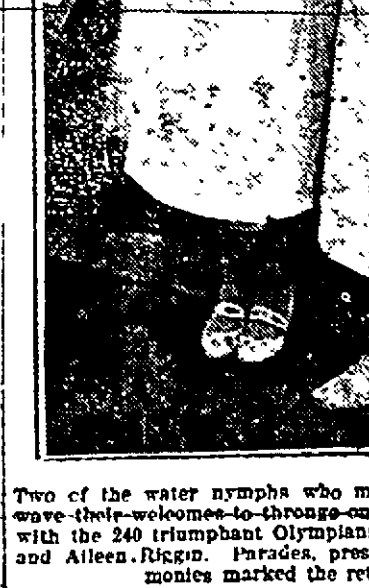

"He is entitled, too, to demand an adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates," the candidate said. "In spite of the failures and shortcomings of existing laws, this is an ideal which I can not believe to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Turning to the field of foreign affairs, Mr. Davis told his audience that the Democratic party favored the World Court "in sincerity and not merely for campaign purposes," regarding it as a real advance toward the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

As to the League of Nations, the candidate declared that "we do not and can not accept the dictum authorized by any expression of popular will that the League of Nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned." Adding that at no time had he believed that the entrance of America into the League would occur, would occur or should occur until the common judgment of the American people was ready for the step, he said he was "sincerely confident" that a day would come when the voice of public approval would find means to make itself heard.

Promising that if he became President of the United States America would sit as "an equal among equals" whenever she sits at all international gatherings, Mr. Davis said he could not reconcile it with his ideas of the dignity of a great nation to be represented at such gatherings only "under the poor pretense of 'unofficial observers.'"

Two of the water nymphs who made history at the Olympic games were their welcome to throngs on the New York plains as they returned with the 240 triumphant Olympians. son and Leonecy—is the orthodox manner in which they wear their ears.
Hussey is built like a smashing fullback. Clarke suggests a tall, thin left-handed pitcher. Murchison, you'd guess off-hand, to be a weight thrower. Leonecy reminds you of middleweight boxers, you've seen in gymnasiums.
No Uniformity in Build
How about their legs?
No uniformity in build exists there either. It is fifty-fifty between the piano legs as represented by Hussey and Murchison and the pipe stems of Clarke and Leonecy.
Hussey is just as fast with his short, stocky legs as Leonecy with his trim, greyhound stride.
Sprinting speed, obviously, is not a matter of standard build. More likely it is a matter of form, stamina and heart.

FIVE MINERS ARE AMBUSHED

Non-Union Men in Oklahoma Coal Field Shot

Wiburton, Oklahoma, Aug. 12.—(By the A. P.)—Ambushed on their way home from work yesterday evening, five non-union workers in the Bull Hill coal mine, 18 miles east of here, were shot down and one seriously wounded by gunmen hidden in an ambush.

No less than 20 shots were fired, the men informed Sheriff Park, who reached the scene an hour after the shooting.

Everett Edwards, 26, the most seriously injured, received two charges of buckshot in the abdomen, chest and face. Physicians believe he will recover. The others, all between 22 and 28 years of age, received face and chest wounds, but none of a serious character.

One man, who crawled behind a knoll after being shot down by the first charge, declared he saw three men run from the scene. The Bull Hill mine employed 50 men and has been operating as a non-union mine several weeks.

Last week a non-union worker fishing near where the shooting yesterday took place, was fired upon from ambush and wounded in the neck.

Saved by Roosevelt's Idea of Square Deal

When Roosevelt was getting ready for his African trip various sportsmen friends, as a matter of course, volunteered suggestions.

"When you get to Nairobi," said one—a Mr. Blank, a happy-go-lucky, careless, prosperous chap, who had lived into the jungle and out again two years before—"what you do, don't hire a guide by the name of W. G. Davis. He is capable enough, but not trustworthy."

The day Roosevelt reached Nairobi he inquired about this particular guide. He sent for the repudiated guide and got his side of the story, says the Milwaukee Journal.

Just as Roosevelt had divined, it was a mountain made out of a mole hill. The damning word dropped by Mr. Blank without warrant had left stark misery in its wake. After that, after that he could get no employment from any hunter who came to Nairobi.

Roosevelt heard all this. By way of rejoinder he smashed his itinerary. He rearranged it over night to include a ten days' expedition never before dreamed of in that section of the country. He hired the Nairobi guide to take entire charge of the trip.

When the expedition got back in scheduled time Nairobi's housewife heard of it. She said: "That guide is the most intelligent, the most industrious, the most reliable and the most satisfactory guide I have ever had."

The rehabilitation of the wounded guide dated from this utterance and this act of Roosevelt. Again the man began to be sought after by hunters.

Outlaw Queen Could Be All Feminine at Times

Belle Starr, outlaw queen of the old days in Texas and Oklahoma, wore her hair short and was particularly sweet to women, says the Detroit News. She lived for years on the proceeds of loot and lined up a gang of the meanest looking, hardest cursing, wildest riding and shooting hard-boiled customers in her particular part of the cow country.

She used to call at women's houses on her way home from leading her band on a robbery, and she would talk feminine things with them, sing religious songs and tell stories to the children.

Several stories are told of the way Belle Starr met her death. The generally accepted one is that she was assassinated by a man named Edgar A. Watson, who had gone to Oklahoma in the 30's and started farming near her place. It is told they became enemies in a dispute over land rental. Anyway, February 3, 1898, so the version has it, a double-barreled shotgun did the work.

Flowers of the Desert

Arizona deserts have their own flowers. In places the supply is abundant, the growth large, the flowers when in bloom of marked beauty, the big yucca and the sotol, both members of the lily family, showing beautiful bloom on tall and stately stalks.

One of the most interesting desert growths is the water cactus, so named because its great stalk, from five to ten feet high and as large in circumference as a barrel, has a heavy pulpy covering from which it is possible to squeeze goodly amounts of water, and Indians and travelers are quick to turn to the cactus when water supplies are short, says the Detroit News.

Free State Pleased When Washington Accepts Envoy

Dublin, Aug. 12.—The official notification of Washington's acceptance of an Irish minister empowered to deal with questions between the Free State and the United States has given much satisfaction in Ireland, where it is regarded as "tangible proof of the United States' recognition of Ireland's new status."

URGES ALFALFA ALONG TRAIL

Advertising Medium for Burleigh County Suggested

An Iowa banker, in the city touring east on the National Parks Highway Association, suggested a movement for the Association of Commerce to advertise Burleigh county. He said that in some counties in South Dakota, along the Yellowstone Trail, local bodies had asked farmers, in planting alfalfa, to plant fields along the trail. The result is, he says, that tourists see fine alfalfa fields, and nothing impresses the prospective immigrant farmer from further east so much as alfalfa. The fields also make an attractive border for the trail, it is declared.

Through South Dakota the tourist may travel mile after mile with alfalfa fields flanked on either side, he said.

RUSS JEWELS SAFE
London, Aug. 12.—The Russian crown jewels are safe in state keeping. Rumors that the precious gems have disappeared are unfounded, according to Sir Martin Conway, noted art critic, who says he saw the jewels on a recent visit in Russia.

Girls! Use Lemon To Whiten Skin
The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whiteners, softer and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Folks

Whatever the first advertisement, advertising is old as history. When folks know something worth talking about, they naturally talk about it; and folks were folks ten thousand years ago. Verbal pictures became pictures on cave, totem pole, tent—then on paper.

Advertisers today are folks too. They want to give you easy knowledge about something worth knowing about. They let you take in, with one sweep of the eye, the meaning of an advertisement. Product, style, size, price. What they tell through advertisements has made all the difference between you in your comfortable home . . . and the cave-dweller in his stone.

Do you read their messages—always? They can lift you to greater progress.

GOLFERS FIELD IS NARROWED

Five Out in Front in Field of 73

Fargo, Aug. 12.—Five of the field of seventy-three North Dakota golfers were well out in front today when the second day of play in the qualifying rounds for the state championship was opened. These five, R. T. Barnard, John Martin, both of Fargo; Bert Nierling, Jamestown; tied with 82 each on the first 18 holes of the qualifying rounds and Tom Hall of Fargo and Ray Anderson of Grand Forks with 83, are battling today for medalist honors, the balance of

FOR SPRINTING: PIANO LEGS OR PIPE STEMS?

America's Record - Breaking Relay Team Found Both Types Useful

A Variety of Legs, All Gaited for Speed

"He's built like a sprinter." What are the standard specifications of the sprinter? If any. Speaking of horses and humans. Man o' War was one of the greatest sprinters ever foaled. Likewise one of the most beautiful horses that ever faced the barrier. Man o' War had the perfect race horse build, a long body, lean flanks, fragile legs that tapered off to pipe-stem proportions. And he was a blue-blood. Morvich followed Man o' War. Morvich won the Kentucky Derby and other notable events. Morvich looked as much like Man o' War as an ash heap resembles Gibraltar. He was thick and heavy and unsymmetrical. But, Gus, the old nag sure could step!

And there's Black Gold, this year's the field being four strokes behind. Match play in the first rounds of the various flights begins this afternoon.

Bismarck golfers made the following 18-hole scores in the qualifying rounds: W. F. Getteman, 103; Phil Meyer, 95; E. B. Cox, 87. Charles Wattam of Fargo, formerly of Bismarck, made 95 in the qualifying round.

JACK RENAULT BEATS MADDEN

New York, Aug. 12.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, decisively outpointed Bartley Madden, tough New York Irishman, in a 15 round match at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City last night. The Canadian bested his opponent in every exchange but his blows lacked the steam to knock out Madden nor even to send him to the floor. The Irishman was badly cut about the face at the termination of the contest.

DAVIS CHARGES SCANDALS ARE G.O.P. HERITAGE

vention which nominated him, the candidate said he would not be expected at this moment to discuss them in detail or to outline the methods by which they are to be carried into effect.

"There will be time enough for that," he stated.
Much of his address was given over to a measured attack upon the record of the Republican party during the past four years. Recounting what he termed "the multiplied scandals of these melancholy years," Mr. Davis assailed the Executive Branch of government for "harassed efforts to suppress testimony, to discourage witnesses, to spy upon investigators and, finally, by trumped up indictment, to frighten and deter" the investigators from their pursuit.

He charged that in the enactment of the present tariff law there was "an unblinking return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contributions with legislative favors." Also he charged inability of the administration to function due to disagreement between the President and the Republican majority in Congress to agree on public questions.

World Affairs

Declaring that it was not in domestic matters alone that the symptoms of this "creeping paralysis" have appeared, Mr. Davis said that not only have Executive recommendations for adherence to the World Court been "flouted and ignored, but no evidence is in sight that the Republican party as now constituted can frame and carry to its conclusions any definite and consistent foreign policy."

"With the reconstruction of Europe weighing heavily on the world," he said, "with American economic life dwarfed and stunted by the interruption of world commerce; with the agricultural regions of the West sinking into bankruptcy because of the loss of their foreign markets; we have stood by as powerless spectators, offering to the world nothing but private charity and individual aid."

Moving from this attack on the opposition to a discussion of other issues, Mr. Davis saved to the last his utterances on the subject which was the basis of a bitter fight in the New York convention—religious freedom. Without referring by name to any organizations, the nominee said he wished to "denounce bigotry, intolerance and race prejudice as alien to the spirit of America" and promised that when elected, he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin as a qualification for any of the thousands of offices he would be called upon to fill."

For the aid of the farmer, Mr. Davis said the Democrats proposed to see to it that the discriminations which the tariff makes against him shall be removed; that this government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets; that the forces of government shall be put actively to work to lend assistance to endeavors for extending the principle of cooperative marketing; that when widespread distress has overtaken him, every power which the government enjoys under the Constitution shall be exerted in his aid.

"He is entitled, too, to demand an adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates," the candidate said. "In spite of the failures and shortcomings of existing laws, this is an ideal which I can not believe to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Turning to the field of foreign affairs, Mr. Davis told his audience that the Democratic party favored the World Court "in sincerity and not merely for campaign purposes," regarding it as a real advance toward the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

As to League
As to the League of Nations, the candidate declared that "we do not and can not accept the dictum authorized by any expression of popular will that the League of Nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned." Adding that at no time had he believed that the entrance of America into the League could occur, would occur or should occur until the common judgment of the American people was ready for the step, he said he was "serenely confident" that a day would come when the voice of public approval would find means to make itself heard."

Promising that if he became President of the United States America would sit as "an equal among equals whenever she sits at all at international gatherings, Mr. Davis said he could not reconcile it with his ideas of the dignity of a great nation to be represented at such gatherings only "under the poor pretense of 'unofficial observers.'"

"He is entitled, too, to demand an

FIVE MINERS ARE AMBUSHED

Non-Union Men in Oklahoma Coal Field Shot

Wilburton, Oklahoma, Aug. 12.—(By the A. P.)—Ambushed on their way home from work yesterday evening, five non-union workers in the Bull Hill coal mine, 18 miles east of here, were shot down and one seriously wounded by gunmen hidden in an ambush.

Everett Edwards, 26, the most seriously injured, received two charges of buckshot in the abdomen, chest and face. Physicians believe he will recover. The others, all between 22 and 28 years of age, received face and chest wounds, but none of a serious character.

One man, who crawled behind a knoll after he had been shot, was the first charge, declared he saw three men run from the scene. The Bull Hill mine employed 50 men and has been operating as a non-union mine several weeks.

Last week a non-union worker fishing near where the shooting yesterday took place, was fired upon from ambush and wounded in the neck.

Saved by Roosevelt's Idea of Square Deal

When Roosevelt was getting ready for his African trip various sportsmen functioned as a matter of course, volunteered suggestions. "When you get to Nairobi," said one—Mr. Blank, a happy-go-lucky, carefree, prosperous chap, who had dived into the jungle and out again two years before—"what- ever you do, don't hire a guide by the name of Nalrobl. He is capable enough, but not trustworthy."

The day Roosevelt reached Nairobi he inquired about this particular guide. He sent for the repudiated guide and got his side of the story, says the Milwaukee Journal.

Just as Roosevelt had dived. It was a mountain made out of a mole hill. The damning word dropped by Mr. Blank without warrant had left stark misery in its wake for the guide. After that he could get no employment from any hunter who came to Nairobi.

Roosevelt heard all this. By way of rejoining he smashed his itinerary. He rearranged it over night to include a ten days' expedition never before dreamed of in that part of the country. He hired the Nalrobl guide to take entire charge of the trip.

When the expedition got back in scheduled time Nalrobl's housepots heard from Roosevelt. He said: "That guide is the most intelligent, the most industrious, the most reliable and the most satisfactory guide I have ever had."

The rehabilitation of the wounded guide dated from this utterance and this act of Roosevelt. Again the man began to be sought after by hunters.

Outlaw Queen Could Be All Feminine at Times

Belle Starr, outlaw queen of the old days in Texas and Oklahoma, wore her hair short and was particularly sweet to women, says the Detroit News. She lived for years on the proceeds of loot and lined up a gang of the meanest looking, hardest cursing, wildest riding and shooting hard-balled customers in her particular part of the cow country.

She used to call at women's houses on her way home from leading her band on a robbery, and she would talk feminine things with them, sing religious songs and tell stories to the children.

Several stories are told of the way Belle Starr met her death. The generally accepted one is that she was assassinated by a man named Edgar A. Watson, who had gone to Oklahoma in the '80s and started farming near her place. It is told they became enemies in a dispute over land rental. Anyway, February 3, 1890, so the version has it, a double-barreled shotgun did the work.

Flowers of the Desert

Arizona deserts have their own flowers. In places the supply is abundant, the growth large, the flowers when in bloom of marked beauty, the big yucca and the sotol, both members of the lily family, showing beautiful bloom on tall and stately stalks.

One of the most interesting desert growths is the water cactus, so named because its great stalk, from five to ten feet high and as large as a circumstance at a barrel, has a heavy pulpy covering from which it is possible to squeeze goodly amounts of water, and Indians and travelers are quick to turn to the cactus when water supplies are short, says the Detroit News.

Free State Pleased When Washington Accepts Envoy

Dublin, Aug. 12.—The official notification of Washington's acceptance of an Irish minister empowered to deal with questions between the Free State and the United States has given much satisfaction in Ireland, where it is regarded as "tangible proof of the United States' recognition of Ireland's new status."

"Washington," says the Freeman's Journal, "is not frightened by the spectres which a certain section of the English press is busy conjuring up. Free State ambassadors have no intention of playing the part of a bull in a china shop as English diehards profess to believe. They can be trusted to handle their business on business-like lines, keeping always well in mind that American friendship is not the least valuable of Irish assets."

URGES ALFALFA ALONG TRAIL

Advertising Medium for Burleigh County Suggested

An Iowa banker, in the city touring east on the National Parks Highway Association, suggested a movement for the Association of Commerce to advertise Burleigh county. He said that in some counties in South Dakota, along the Yellowstone Trail, local bodies had asked farmers, in planting alfalfa, to plant fields along the trail. The result is, he says, that tourists see fine alfalfa fields, and nothing impresses the prospective immigrant farmer from farther east so much as alfalfa. The fields also make an attractive border for the trail, it is declared.

Through South Dakota the tourist may travel mile after mile with alfalfa fields flanked on either side, he said.

Girls! Use Lemon To Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softer and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

No need of sending your Arch Freewer Shoes to the factory to be resoled. The Bismarck Shoe Hospital can do it. Either whole sole or half sole.

Folks

Whatever the first advertisement, advertising is old as history. When folks know something worth talking about, they naturally talk about it; and folks were folks ten thousand years ago. Verbal pictures became pictures on cave, totem pole, tent — then on paper.

Advertisers today are folks too. They want to give you easy knowledge about something worth knowing about. They let you take in, with one sweep of the eye, the meaning of an advertisement. Product, style, size, price. What they tell through advertisements has made all the difference between you in your comfortable home . . . and the cave-dweller in his stone.

Do you read their messages — always? They can lift you to greater progress.

BOOK DEVOTED TO NO. DAKOTA

Hulda Winsted Moved By Charm of Prairies

Of her genuine "love and admiration for the finest and best things in the land of the prairies," as she speaks of it in connection with the dedication, Miss Hulda L. Winsted's second book of North Dakota verse, "America Makes Men," is sufficient evidence.

Sincerity and a happy gift of appreciating the little things as well as the outstanding ones, is expressed in every poem in the volume. "America Makes men," the title poem, thoroughly handling a big theme in marching rhythm, is not so charming as "Passing Flowers," dedicated as its subject in color and fancy.

Although chiefly devoted to North Dakota, the book contains a poem or two on other themes, and one of these is perhaps the best bit of artistry in the book, portraying in eight bold lines a series of sharply outlined pictures, "The Desert."

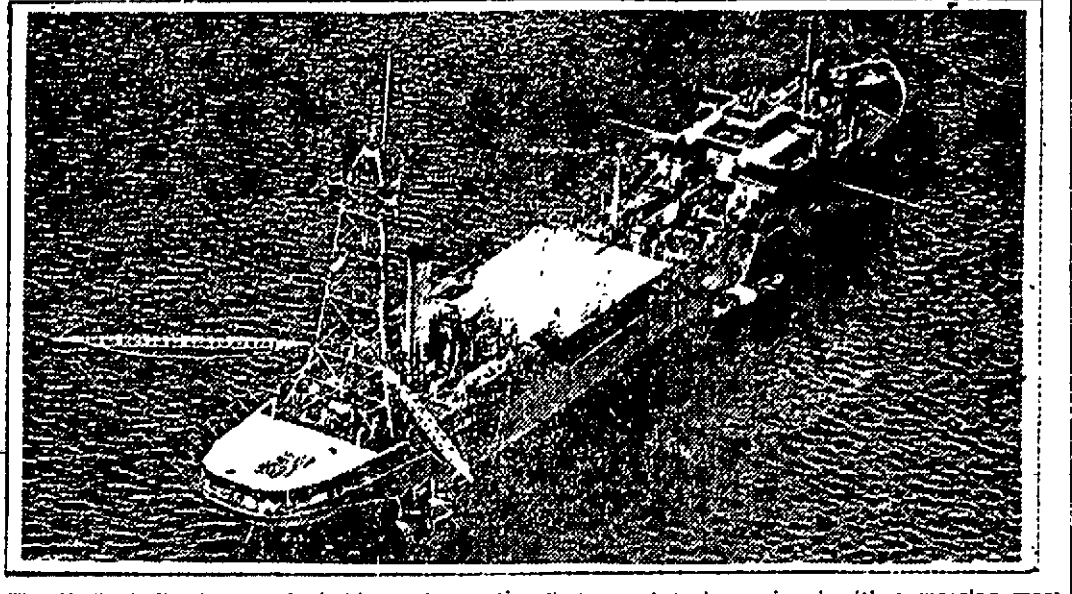

It has somewhat the impressionistic treatment, which appears suitable to what it attempts to portray.

"Winter scene in North Dakota," too has rather the same treatment, and is a successful characterization.

Among the poems less serious "Nothing New Under the Sun" is a great deal more clever than its title, and "Please Explain," contains a little good natured sarcasm one hears, expressed quite often in the work. "North Dakota," modeled on the w. k. nursery rhyme, swinks one right along in its jolly wake.

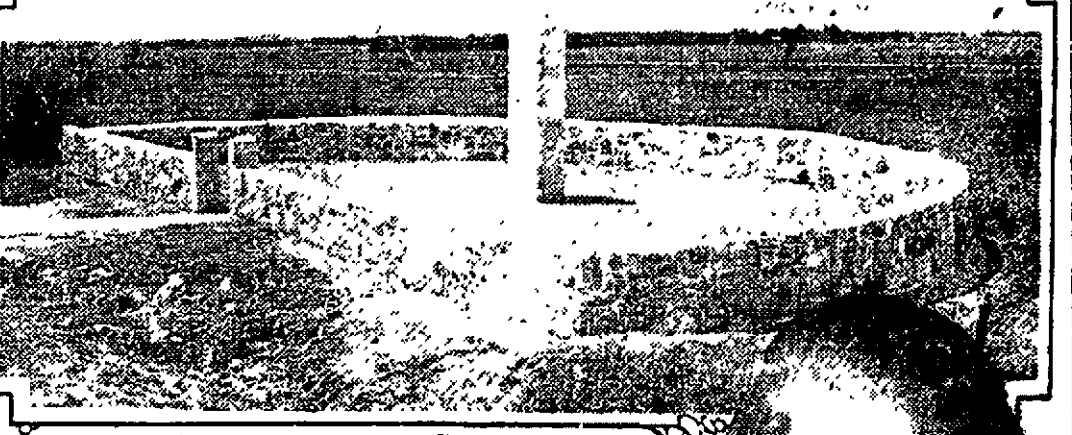

"To Our Unknown Soldier," and "The True American," though sincere are full of platitudes, and are unconvincing. "Spend and be Spent," and "Immigrants All," are more up to the writers standard. The book is one of general interest to all North Dakota people.

Memorial to Harding in Kansas Wheat Field

A year ago, while on his way to San Francisco where he died, President Warren G. Harding turned "dirt farmer" one day at Hutchinson, Kan., and shocked wheat. On the spot where the late president handled his last bundle of wheat has been erected a monument (upper), paid for by contributions from school children. Elizabeth Humphries (lower right) then 11, recipient of a kiss from the chief executive during his visit, unveiled the monument. In the lower left Harding is shown as a "dirt farmer" on the spot.

DOUBLE SLAYING INVESTIGATED

Great Neck, L. I., Aug. 12.—Nassau county police, investigating a double killing that occurred last night in an automobile near here, said that a letter found in the pockets of a man, one of the victims, indicated he had killed his woman companion and then committed suicide.

The man was Frank Fayard, a New York chauffeur. He is alleged to have shot Mrs. Clark Wood of South Norfolk, Va., when she insisted that he marry her after she had divorced her husband, according to the letter found by the coroner.

SALESMAN IS NEAR DEATH FROM CANDY

Collapses in Minot After Eating Candy Sent Him Through Mail

Minot, Aug. 12.—John A. Sooner, Minneapolis salesman for a shirt and collar company who last evening was near death from poisoning which followed the eating of poisoned candy mailed from Minneapolis, was released from a local hospital today.

Mr. Sooner said he had no suspicion regarding the perpetrator of the plot, and said that no one but his parents and his employer knew his itinerary. The stricken man is in the candy nearly caused his death. Mr. Sooner received the candy yesterday afternoon wrapped in ordinary wrapping paper, the box closed saying, "I am sending you some home made candy. I hope you will enjoy it."

Mr. Sooner collapsed yesterday morning obtaining a cure from a local buyer.

SEARCH MADE

Minneapolis, Aug. 12.—Search for the perpetrator of the "poison candy plot" which caused the collapse and serious illness of George H. Sooner, Minneapolis salesman at Minot, is being made.

Investigation has revealed that the candy was mailed here yesterday and Sooner was taken violently ill when he had eaten some of the candy.

Postoffice inspectors have called in writing experts to determine whether the handwriting was that of a man or woman.

The expression "bees knees" and "snakes hips" may be heard with frequency among the Indians of today.

Women Surely Have Keen Sense of Money Values

If the average woman were without a sense of money values, as charged by a budget expert, the average American family would have less money in the bank than it has. Eliminating the girl who lives at home and can spend her earnings for pretty things, and whose extravagance is one of the manifestations of her youth, it would have been fairer to say the average housewife of America has a very keen appreciation of the value of money and how hard it is for the husband to earn it. It is probably quite true that women do not budget their expenses; neither did the great United States government until a few years ago. If the budget expert would go into the stores patronized by the wives of wage earners and note with what care and anxiety the customers spend their money and how anxious they are to get full value, she might revise her judgment a bit. With due respect to the paragraphers, the women are shrewd buyers. The hardly saved dollars which bulk so large in savings fund reports and bank deposits are where they are because the women of the country have put them there, often against the will of their husbands. The average man is a much swifter spender than a woman, and despite the jokes of the paragraphers and comic artists, all women do not throw away money on innumerable hats and gowns. The budget expert did less than justice to her own sex when she criticized their financial acumen. — Philadelphia Bulletin.

Javanese Houses by No Means Things of Beauty

The clay walls which surround a Balinese farm in Java are usually two or three meters high. Very often they rest upon foundations of stones and are covered with a heavy layer of bushes which are to protect them from destructive tropical rains. A door in the wall is closed at night with wooden or bamboo planks, the Detroit News states.

The walls around farms of "poenggavaa" or district mayors, are usually built of more substantial material. The same is true of the houses of Balinese princes. Yet while the latter houses may be elaborately decorated they resemble the more humble dwellings in that they are exceedingly filthy. The numerous members of the family—parents, brothers, sisters, nieces, nephews, married or unmarried—live in a single house.

The pigs, dogs and goats found on every Balinese farm are kept in a separate hut. The loan huts are usually built upon wooden elevations and are exceedingly ugly and unsightly.

On each farm one will also find bamboo baskets to house the fowls.

Words We Have Clipped

A few years ago a music-hall comedian made a great hit by clipping familiar words, and we still hear him imitated in colloquial conversation. London Tit-Bits says, "People say 'impos' for impossible, 'bit' for business and 'pash' for passion."

But such clipped words are not destined to appear in any dictionary, and we must go back much farther in the history of words to find that when we say, "He led the van," we mean the "vanguard"; when we speak of a pair of can horses, we mean "cervant"; when we retire to the "drawing room," we ought to say the with-drawing room; when we talk of a "hobby," we refer to riding a "hobby-horse"; when we talk of sport we mean "disport," of "tending" we mean "attending," or a "cute" lawyer we mean acute, and of a "still" we mean a distillery.

Joke on Archeologists

Fossils of prehistoric animals which lived during the great Ice age are found in certain layers of blue clay in Tennessee. Now, it has been claimed, arrived on the scene thousands of years after these blue clay deposits were made. Recently, however, geologists working near the site of an old Indian earthwork found some of this same sort of blue clay. Undemeth this clay were human bones. The discovery was exciting—the geological evidence seemed to place the first Tennesseans back with Ice age fossils. Then some kill-joy in the party discovered that the Indians had evidently transported this clay from some distant place and packed it down into flat layers resembling geological strata.

"Well," asked the judge, "what have you got to say about the case?"

"Well, judge," she replied, "with the limitations I've just had put on me, I don't think I've anything at all to say."

ATKINSON COMES BACK

In order to detract public thought and soften public opinion upon the three per cent gratuity granted him on the purchase price of the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply company, Mr. T. R. Atkinson had read into the record last evening a letter or statement to the commission stating that he paid Mr. Harry Thompson $700 to supervise the laying of a sanitary sewer and that Mr. Thompson failed to return the "wee" book. Mr. Thompson informs The Tribune that he left the "wee" book at Mr. Atkinson's office.

The motive of Mr. Atkinson is very plain. Criticized himself for insisting upon a three per cent fee, he seeks to infer that Mr. Thompson accepted $700 of the five per cent paid on construction work. If any blame attaches to such an arrangement, Atkinson should have the entire blame. He hired Mr. Thompson in his capacity as plumber to do this work and paid him out of the five per cent allowed him by the city. It is a matter of public record that other city commissioners in their capacity as businessmen sell the city supplies every month and pass on their own bills or the bills of the firm they represent.

Mr. Atkinson does not explain satisfactorily to the public why he should have been paid the three per cent. His attack upon Commissioner Thompson has no bearing on the principle involved in the payment of the three per cent on $265,000 or the $7,950 gratuity. The fact that the "wee" book has not been located does not explain to the taxpayers of Bismarck why it was necessary to pay three per cent commission on a purchase.

It is true out of the five per cent paid Mr. Atkinson for paving, sewer and other contracts that he hired other engineers to assist him whom he paid out of his own pocket as he did Mr. Thompson. The legality of such an arrangement when he is already upon a salary of $60 a month and office rent, light, heat, telephones all free has been severely criticized by many, but be that as it may the three per cent fee upon property purchased is indefensible and a direct burden upon the taxpayers.

There is no contract or precedent for such action. Mr. Atkinson seems to think that facts concerning his fees are not public business nor a matter for newspaper discussion. Upon the publication of the bare fact that he received this fee, he rushed into print with the accusation that this mere news mention of an act of the city commission was "tainted news" and that The Tribune had charged Larson, French, Lenhart and Hensler with grafting.

Whether Mr. Atkinson or B. E. Jones, official apologist and press agent for T. R. Atkinson, devised this remarkable defense of the $7,950 gratuity is not disclosed, or whether T. R. Atkinson after due consultation with his kitchen cabinet decided that putting the blame of the absence of his "wee" book upon Harry Thompson would mitigate the taking of the fee before it had been legally determined he was entitled to it, is not disclosed, but the public mind will hardly be diverted by the childish communication filed by the auditor upon Mr. Thompson's own motion.

The whole fiasco should point plainly to the fact that the taxpayers of Bismarck would have saved thousands of dollars in the past if a city engineer had been employed upon a fixed salary. When the budget is fixed again that should be done.

Just to show how this five per cent operates we have only to look over the records to see what it has cost the taxpayers of Bismarck. When Mr. Atkinson drew plans for the water works system showing how a new system could be built or a tie-up with the present plant made, he was paid a flat fee of $2,000 for these plans and an additional $2,000 was to be paid in case the plans were used. This of course is in addition to the $7,950 gratuity paid on the purchase price of the old plant.

A survey of the records shows that Mr. Atkinson has been paid in salary and commissions on public work in Bismarck from Jan. 1, 1914 to December 1, 1919, $41,896.52.

Since then some $30,000 or more has been paid bringing his salary and fees for services well over the $70,000 mark. An average over the ten years doubtless would be in excess of $7,000 a year, a heavy burden upon the taxpayers and more than the services were worth and much more than the city needed to pay for such work.

The city commission can stop this leak and take a long step toward tax reduction by putting the city engineer solely upon a salary basis. In making this suggestion The Tribune is charging no one with graft, that inference has been raised by T. R. Atkinson and his non-tax paying man Friday.

CHECKMATE

Corporations gradually get the public under more perfect control. For instance, it develops that Frenchmen are like Americans, in that they jiggle the phone receiver hook when they get slow service. So the telephone company in Paris makes this arrangement: As calls flash on Central's board, they are numbered and handled in order. Every time a subscriber jiggles his phone, he loses his place and moves down the line.

We'll all be tamed to stand without hitching, one of these days.

TOM SAWYER

The great immortal, Tom Sawyer, would have envied the experience of Morris Semelmacher, 15, of New York. He was sent to deliver a box of cigars aboard a steamer. Passengers invited him to eat. Before he knew it, the ship was headed east. Morris got a free ride to Germany and back.

This is a striking example of the uncertainty of life. And life wouldn't be half interesting if it were not for the unexpected. Nature is wise and kindly in veiling the future. If we knew what was coming, existence would be duller, less thrilling.

A man who uses his head will never get over it in debt.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN INSOLENT MINORITY

Some day we may learn, with an emphasis that will permit no dissent, who is running the United States.

Right now the engineers' and firemen's brotherhoods seem to be of the impression that they are supreme in all matters in which they are interested. They cannot be blamed for their doubt, as their previous experience has been such as to confirm them in that opinion. If our memory serves us right the brotherhoods are the only body of our citizenry that ever went down to Washington and told Congress and a President what they had to do to prevent a wholesale paralysis of the nation. And at that time they got away with it.

The same administration that kept us out of war so long that when we entered it was almost too late also kept us out of strikes, and with about the same effect. The passage of the Adamson law at the behest of the brotherhoods was the first case of an abject surrender by the government to the demands of a militant and insolent minority.

The brotherhoods which now defy the United States railroad labor board cannot be blamed for their attitude. It is human nature to take all you can get and the experience of the past has shown, to their satisfaction, that they can get all they ask for.

It was therefore not necessary for them to submit to the jurisdiction of the labor board or any other body. They must merely put a figurative gun at the heads of the railroad companies and take whatever they desire. It was proved to their satisfaction in recent years that the government was afraid to meet the issue of a conflict with the brotherhoods and the present situation is the logical outcome of that fact.

The moral error of the brotherhoods' position now taken by the firemen and engineers is clearly demonstrated by the fact that the three members of the labor board who are representing organized labor, voted with the representatives of the public and the companies on the questions now at issue.

One of these men is a former high official in one of the railway unions, and it is certain that his vote would not be cast in a manner which he considered as infringing on the rights of labor. The action of the labor chiefs in denying the jurisdiction of the labor board is merely another defense of governmental authority as regards labor. It is another attempt to establish the immunity of organized labor.

Some students of the situation think a rail strike on western brotherhood lines is threatened. It may be. But, if these brotherhoods or any other combination of labor now or ever tie up the rail lines of any considerable portion of these United States again in defiance of law and of public rights they will find themselves in the position of open rebellion to governmental authority.

Further, the chief executive now sitting in the White House is not the same one who was there eight years ago. Our gamble on the proposition is that, whatever the brotherhoods desire, they will learn that all the people of America run this country, not just a minority. —Black Diamond.

PUNISHMENT TO FIT THE CRIME

The Los Angeles judge who sentenced a speeding motorist to convey the traffic accident stories from every paper in the city for six months may or may not have been reading Dante's Inferno. At any rate, he has adopted Dante's scheme of fitting the punishment to the crime. It is a scheme so good and with such promise of effectiveness that it might well be tried in other cases and on other types of the law-breaker or the social nuisance.

That neighbor who runs his phonograph nightly after all others in his vicinity are asleep, should he not be sentenced to a solid week of "Limehouse Blues" played with a steel needle at bed-side? That politician who fills the air with carefully platitudinous bunk, should he not be sent up for a year of solid oratory, to be supplied by colleagues of his own sapient persuasion? Those young things who write so many letters to matinee and film heroes, should they not be sent down to a bushel basket of such billets with instructions to classify the declarations? Those auditors who talk loudly in the theater, is there any punishment adequate for them? —New York World.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I think I'd kind of like to visit Buster Bear on my vacation," said Weeny to the elephant, to the Twins. And I'm sure Buster would like to have you, too."

"Where does he live?" asked Nick. "In a woods on the side of a mountain," said Weeny. "Nancy, will you please shake the wrinkles out of my nightgown and pack it up for me? I can't go to Buster's house all wrinkled up. And where are my specs?"

"You have them on," laughed Nancy. "They're right on your nose."

"Ha, ha, ha! I declare!" laughed Weeny. "If they'd been a snake they'd have bitten me. That's me for you! Here, Nancy, I'll take them off and you can pack them, too."

So Nancy packed the specs and then she and Nick trotted off—I mean Weeny trotted off with them on his back. I mean the Twins on his back, not the specs.

Will He Ring the Bell?

I don't know what places they crossed but it was about a dozen things, and by and by they came to the tree-covered mountain side where Buster lived in a cave house with his mother and daddy.

When Weeny climbed up and rang the door-bell, Buster answered it, for indeed there was no one else to do it. He was all by himself.

He was so surprised to see them that all he could say was, "Good-night!"

"You should say, 'Good-day,'" said Weeny, wrapping his trunk around Buster's neck and giving him a kiss. "Good-night!" I mean 'Hello,'" said Buster, giving a little dance. "I'm as glad as sixty to see you. Where are you going?"

"Here," said Weeny, sitting down to let the Twins slide off his back. "We've got your room, you see. Have you got any room?"

"Oodles!" said Buster. "Ma and Daddy are away on a trip and I'm all by myself. And I was just wondering what I was going to do. But now we can have a good time. Four is a handy number. We can't play ball or prisoner's base but we can play tag and hi-spy and five hundred and casino and loads of things. Can you cook, Nancy?"

"Yes, I can cook anything in cans," said Nancy, "and boil eggs and make tea."

"We'll have a perfect picnic," said Buster Bear. "Come on in and take off your things and we'll have a game of hi-spy right away. Talk about circuses!"

Well, I haven't got much room left to tell you all about it, but the visitors stayed five days with Buster and then Mr. and Mrs. Bear came home.

"Buster, did you get the cellar cleaned as I told you?" said Mrs. Bear.

"No, ma'am," said Buster, hanging his head.

"Or the fence whitewashed or the ash-can emptied or the wood cut or—"

"Oh, ma, we had such a good time I forgot," said Buster.

"I think we'll be packing and moving along," said Weeny to the Twins. (To Be Continued)

BUYING OUT THE BOSS

By Albert Apple

One of the six oldest business firms in the United States is Devoe & Reynolds Co., Inc., manufacturers of paints and painters' materials. It has been active for 170 years.

Sixteen of this company's employees have just taken over the business. They bought a controlling interest. It required a lot of money from each of the 16, for it's a big business.

Such stories are becoming common—a small group of leading employees purchasing the interests of their boss.

Later you will frequently read that thousands of employees have, by pooling their savings, bought out their employer.

This may be the eventual solution of the labor-capital problem.

It certainly would go a long way toward making every man more or less his own boss.

The income of the American people for six years is just about equivalent to the entire national wealth. It is more than enough to buy all the business organizations in the country, including sources of raw materials, railroads and marketing organizations.

Of course, all this income isn't available for any such purpose. Living expenses have to be met first. Only savings could be devoted to buying ownership of industry.

But it all illustrates the gigantic power of the people's savings. By organization and sufficient time, employees could buy out all employers.

Would things run smoothly if employees by purchase became their own employers? Not unless they united in an organization with almost military discipline to handle the management. Petty jealousies and rivalries would be fatal. Every business, to be efficient, must have a Real Boss at its head, the same as an army must have a staff presided over by a general with the power of decision.

Our original American settlers discarded the monarchy idea in government. But they brought over and clung to the monarchical system in business—the employer the ruler, employees his subjects. We are gradually in business getting a semblance of the democracy we have in government. Final attainment of the goal may be through the pooled buying power of employees.

FABLES ON HEALTH

CARRIAGE EXERCISES

Not long after Mr. Jones of Anytown had learned from his physical director the proper way to stand and walk he was introduced to several simple exercises that helped materially to keep the body in condition for maintaining this carriage.

For those others who may wish to follow Mr. Jones' example, the following brief outline of some of these exercises are here given:

1—Lie flat upon the back, arising to a sitting posture for six or seven times. Then, turning face downward, make a bridge of your body by rising on arms. Again, returning to your back, arch the abdomen, resting on your shoulders and heels.

2—While still upon the floor, inhale slowly, raising the arms to a horizontal position and straightening them out at the sides again when exhaling. Breathe slowly and deeply, doing this exercise at the rate of about 10 a minute.

3—Lying on a standing position, raise first the right and then the left leg and, following this, thrust the arms above the head, swaying from side to side with an upward movement of the hips.

All of these have as their purpose the strengthening of the abdominal muscles which play the most important part in maintaining a constant erect carriage.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON, CONTINUED

Here's something funny that I forgot to tell you. You remember that letter that Paula wrote me, asking me not to flirt with anyone. Well, the moment she got to the wedding she spotted Mrs. Atherton immediately, and said:

"So that is the woman you are flirting with? You do not know when you are well off. With a lovely wife, to go around flirting with a red-head is the last woman I can forgive."

Can you beat that, Syd? Most men think they are handicapped with a wife to look after their flirtations, but when a man's former sweetheart also takes up the cudgel for him, he can imagine he has some espionage to struggle against.

I wish you'd come over and stay with me, Syd, for a while, anyway till I get used to Leslie's being away. I have no one to talk to but mother, and she is the last woman I want to talk to under the circumstances, you know. Of course, if you won't come you must reconsider your determination not to write me, for I tell you, old man, I'm in great trouble, and I have always considered that you were the best friend any man ever had.

Sincerely, JACK.

Night Letter From Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott to Mrs. Leslie.

Jack and I are very happy, of course. Sometimes I wish this journey would never end. I dread Hollywood and Hollywood environment. I wonder if I will be happy there as I am now. BEE.

New Coat Dress

It is indeed uncommon for such graceful and elegant lines to be found on so utilitarian a garment as a flannel coat dress, but here they are. The coat is detachable and may be left at home whenever desired. The collar may be worn closed at the neck as in the photograph or opened in a V. The waistline in front occurs at the junction of the first tier of the skirt, but in the back it is only suggested by the tie belt. This outfit is very practical for fall and lends itself gracefully to the addition of a fur neckpiece or a colorful scarf.

Miss Rawlings Honored Guest

Miss Mary Cayou entertained seven girls last night at a dinner at her home, complimenting Miss Ruth Rawlings, who will leave tomorrow to enter Mills College, San Francisco. Garden flowers made an attractive centerpiece for the table. After the dinner, which was served at 6:30, the guests attended the picture at the Eltings.

New Coat Dress

It is indeed uncommon for such graceful and elegant lines to be found on so utilitarian a garment as a flannel coat dress, but here they are. The waistline in front occurs at the junction of the first tier of the skirt, but in the back it is only suggested by the tie belt. This outfit is very practical for fall and lends itself gracefully to the addition of a fur neckpiece or a colorful scarf.

The inventor has personally demonstrated it to a large number of musical critics who came to Brunswick from all over Germany. At the present state of cultivation of the human ear, however, the critics believe it won't do to mix too many quarter tones with the half and whole notes to which the ear is accustomed. Their present advice to composers is to reserve the quarter notes for special passages in which melancholy strains are to be given expression.

Better Plum Jam Easily Made in 15 Minutes

Tastes Better—Looks Better—Costs Less and Never Fails

By ANN PROCTOR

Everybody loves plum jam with its real tart flavor. No home ever has too much of it. As a spread on bread, or to serve with meats, nothing is more tasty. Get some fully-ripe sweet fruit, the kind with the best flavor, and use this recipe:

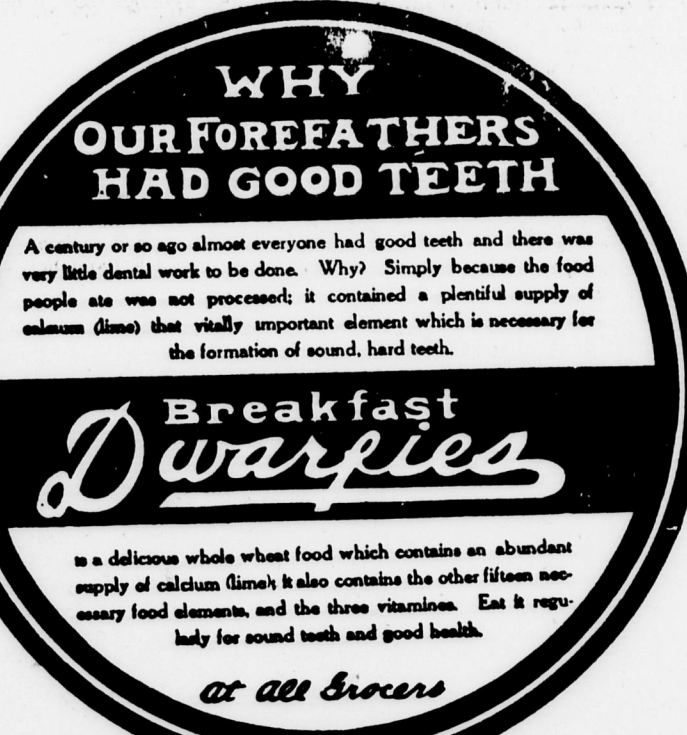

Slice, pit and crush well about 2 1/2 lbs. plums. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed fruit into large kettle, add 1/4 cup water, stir until boiling, cover kettle and simmer 1/4 hour. Add 7 1/2 level cups (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in 1/2 bottle (scant 1/2 cup) Certo. Skim and pour quickly.

Use same recipe for Currant or Gooseberry Jam by crushing about 2 lbs. of either fruit.

This Certo process banishes all the guess work or worry as perfect results are certain when a simple recipe is followed. Unlike the old method "pound for pound" mixture boiled for thirty or more minutes, with considerable juice, color and

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ATKINSON COMES BACK
In order to detract public thought and soften public opinion upon the three per cent gratuity granted him on the purchase price of the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply company, Mr. T. R. Atkinson had read into the record last evening a letter or statement to the commission stating that he paid Mr. Harry Thompson $700 to supervise the laying of a sanitary sewer and that Mr. Thompson failed to return the "wye" book. Mr. Thompson informs The Tribune that he left the "wye" book at Mr. Atkinson's office.

The motive of Mr. Atkinson is very plain. Criticized himself for insisting upon a three per cent fee, he seeks to infer that Mr. Thompson accepted $700 of the five per cent paid on construction work. If any blame attaches to such an arrangement, Atkinson should have the entire blame. He hired Mr. Thompson in his capacity as plumber to do this work and paid him out of the five per cent allowed him by the city. It is a matter of public record that other city commissioners in their capacity as businessmen sell the city supplies every month and pass on their own bills or the bills of the firm they represent.

Mr. Atkinson does not explain satisfactorily to the public why he should have been paid the three per cent. His attack upon Commissioner Thompson has no bearing on the principle involved in the payment of the three per cent on $265,000 or the $7,950 gratuity. The fact that the "wye" book has not been located does not explain to the taxpayers of Bismarck why it was necessary to pay three per cent commission on a purchase.

It is true out of the five per cent paid Mr. Atkinson for paving, sewer and other contracts that he hired other engineers to assist him whom he paid out of his own pocket as he did Mr. Thompson. The legality of such an arrangement when he is already upon a salary of $60 a month and office rent, light, heat, telephones all free has been severely criticized by many, but that as it may the three per cent fee upon property purchased is indefensible and a direct burden upon the taxpayers.

There is no contract or precedent for such action. Mr. Atkinson seems to think that facts concerning his fees are not public business nor a matter for newspaper discussion. Upon the publication of the bare fact that he received this fee, he rushed into print with the accusation that this mere news mention of an act of the city commission was "tainted news" and that The Tribune had charged Larson, French, Lenhart and Hentzel with grafting.

Whether Mr. Atkinson or B. E. Jones, official apologist and press agent for T. R. Atkinson, devised this remarkable defense of the $7,950 gratuity is not disclosed, or whether T. R. Atkinson after due consultation with his kitchen cabinet decided that putting the blame of the absence of his "wye" book upon Harry Thompson would mitigate the taking of the fee before it had been legally determined he was entitled to it. It is not disclosed, but the public mind will hardly be diverted by the childish communication filed by the auditor upon Mr. Thompson's own motion.

The whole fiasco should point plainly to the fact that the taxpayers of Bismarck would have saved thousands of dollars in the past if a city engineer had been employed upon a fixed salary. When the budget is fixed again that should be done.

Just to show how this five per cent operates we have only to look over the records to see what it has cost the taxpayers of Bismarck. When Mr. Atkinson drew plans for the water works system showing how a new system could be built or a tie-up with the present plant made, he was paid a flat fee of $2,000 for these plans and an additional $2,000 was to be paid in case the plans were used. This of course is in addition to the $7,950 gratuity paid on the purchase price of the old plant.

A survey of the records shows that Mr. Atkinson has been paid in salary and commissions on public work in Bismarck from Jan. 1, 1914 to December 1, 1919, $41,896.52.

Since then some $30,000 or more has been paid bringing his salary and fees for services well over the $70,000 mark. An average over the ten years doubtless would be in excess of $7,000 a year, a heavy burden upon the taxpayers and more than the services were worth and much more than the city needed to pay for such work.

The city commission can stop this leak and take a long step toward tax reduction by putting the city engineer solely upon a salary basis. In making this suggestion The Tribune is charging no one with graft, that inference has been raised by T. R. Atkinson and his non-tax paying man Friday.

CHECKMATE
Corporations gradually get the public under more perfect control. For instance, it develops that Frenchmen are like Americans, in that they jiggle the phone receiver hook when they get slow service. So the telephone company in Paris makes this arrangement: As calls flash on Central's board, they are numbered and handled in order. Every time a subscriber jiggles his phone, he loses his place and moves down the line.

We'll all be tamed to stand without hitching, one of these days.

TOM SAWYER
The great immortal, Tom Sawyer, would have envied the experience of Morris Semelmacher, 15, of New York. He was sent to deliver a box of cigars aboard a steamer. Passengers invited him to eat. Before he knew it, the ship was headed east. Morris got a free ride to Germany and back.

This is a striking example of the uncertainty of life. And life wouldn't be half interesting if it were not for the unexpected. Nature is wise and kindly in veiling the future. If we knew what was coming, existence would be duller, less thrilling.

A man who uses his head will never get over it in debt.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN INSOLENT MINORITY

Some day we may learn, with an emphasis that will permit no dispute, who is running the United States.

Right now the engineers' and firemen's brotherhoods seem to be of the impression that they are supreme in all matters in which they are interested.

They cannot be blamed for their doubt, as their previous experience has been such as to confirm them in that opinion. If our memory serves us right the brotherhoods are the only body of our citizenry that ever went down to Washington and told Congress and a President what they had to do to prevent a wholesale paralysis of the nation. And at that time they got away with it.

The same administration that kept us out of war so long that when we entered it was almost too late also kept us out of strikes, and with about the same effect. The passage of the Adamson law at the demand of the brotherhoods was the first case of an abject surrender by the government to the demands of a militant and insolent minority.

The brotherhoods which now defy the United States railroad labor board cannot be blamed for their attitude. It is human nature to take all you can get and the experience of the past has shown, to their satisfaction, that they can get all they ask for.

It therefore is not necessary for them to submit to the jurisdiction of the labor board or any other body. They must merely put a figurative gun at the heads of the railroad companies and take whatever they desire.

It was proved to their satisfaction in recent years that the government was afraid to meet the issue of a conflict with the brotherhoods and the present situation is the logical outcome of that fact. The moral error in the rebellious position now taken by the firemen and engineers is clearly demonstrated by the fact that the three members of the labor board who are representing organized labor, voted with the representatives of the public and the companies on the questions now at issue.

One of these men is a former high official in one of the railway unions, and it is certain that his vote would not be cast in a manner which he considered as infringing on the rights of labor. The action of the labor chiefs in denying the jurisdiction of the labor board is merely another defiance of governmental authority as regards labor. It is another attempt to establish the immunity of organized labor.

Some students of the situation think a rail strike on western brotherhood lines is threatened. It may be. But if these brotherhoods or any other combination of labor now or ever tie up the rail lines of any considerable portion of these United States again in defiance of law and of public rights they will find themselves in the position of open rebellion to governmental authority.

Further, the chief executive now sitting in the White House is not the same one who was there eight years ago. Our gamble on the proposition is that, whatever the brotherhoods do, they will learn that all the people of America run this country, not just a minority.

PUNISHMENT TO FIT THE CRIME

The Los Angeles judge who sentenced a speeding motorist to copy out the traffic accident stories from every paper in the city for six months may or may not have been reading Dante's Inferno. At any rate, he has adopted Dante's scheme of fitting the punishment to the crime. It is a scheme so good and with such promise of effectiveness that it might well be tried in other cases and on other types of law-breakers or the social nuisance.

That neighbor who runs his phonograph night after all others in his vicinity are asleep, should be sentenced to a solid week of "Limehouse Blues" played with a steel needle at his bedside. That politician who fills the air with carefully platitudinous bunk, should be sent up for a year of solid oratory, to be supplied by colleagues of his own sapient persuasion. Those young things who write so many letters to matinee and film heroes, should be sent to be sent down to a bushel basket of such billets with instructions to classify the declarations. Those auditors who talk loudly in the theater, is there any punishment adequate for them?

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

"I think I'd kind of like to visit Buster Bear on my vacation," said Weeny, the elephant, to the Twins. And I'm sure Buster would like to have you, too.

"Where does he live?" asked Nick. "In a woods on the side of a mountain," said Weeny. "Nancy, will you please shake the wrinkles out of my nightgown and pack it up for me? I can't go to Buster's house all wrinkled up. And where are my spears?" "You have them on your nose," Nancy. "They're right on your nose." "Ha, ha, ha! I declare!" laughed Weeny. "If they'd been a snake they'd have bitten me. That's me for you! Here, Nancy, I'll take them off and you can pack them, too."

So Nancy packed the spears and then she and Nick trotted off—mean Weeny trotted off with them on his back. I mean the Twins on his back, not the spears.

Will He Ring the Bell?

I don't know what places they crossed but it was about a dozen things, and by and by they came to the tree-covered mountain side where Buster lived in a cave house with his mother and daddy.

When Weeny climbed up and rang the door-bell, Buster answered it, for indeed there was no one else to do it. He was all by himself.

He was so surprised to see them that all he could say was, "Good-night!"

"You should say, 'Good-day,'" said Weeny, wrapping his trunk around Buster's neck and giving him a kiss. "Good-night! I mean 'Hello,'" said Buster, doing a little dance. "I'm as glad as sixty to see you. Where are you going?"

"Here," said Weeny, sitting down to let the Twins slide off his back. "We've come to pay you a visit. Have you got any room?" "Oodles!" said Buster. "Ma and Daddy are away on a trip and I'm all by myself. And I was just wondering what I was going to do. But now we can have a good time. Four is a dandy number. We can't play ball or prisoner's base, but we can play tag and hi-spy and five hundred and casino and loads of things. Can you cook, Nancy?"

"Yes, I can cook anything in cans," said Nancy, "and boil eggs and make tea."

"We'll have a perfect picnic," said Buster Bear. "Come on in and take off your things and we'll have a game of hi-spy right away. Talk about circus!"

Well, I haven't got much room left to tell you all about it, but the visitors stayed five days with Buster and then Mr. and Mrs. Bear came home. "Buster, did you get the cellar cleaned as I told you?" said Mrs. Bear.

"No, ma'am," said Buster, hanging his head. "Or the fence whitewashed or the ash-can emptied or the wood cut or—"

"Oh, ma, we had such a good time I forgot," said Buster. "I think we'll be packing and moving along," said Weeny to the Twins. (To Be Continued)

BUYING OUT THE BOSS

By Albert Apple

One of the six oldest business firms in the United States is Devoe & Reynolds Co., Inc., manufacturers of painters' materials. It has been active for 170 years.

Sixteen of this company's employees have just taken over the business. They bought a controlling interest. It required a lot of money from each of the 16, for it's a big business.

Such stories are becoming common—a small group of leading employes purchasing the interests of their boss.

Later you will frequently read that thousands of employes have, by pooling their savings, bought out their employer.

This may be the eventual solution of the labor-capital problem.

It certainly would go a long way toward making every man more or less his own boss.

The income of the American people for six years is just about equivalent to the entire national wealth. It is more than enough to buy all the business organizations in the country, including sources of raw materials, railroads and marketing organizations.

Of course, all this income isn't available for any such purpose. Living expenses have to be met first. Only savings could be devoted to buying ownership of industry.

But it all illustrates the gigantic power of the people's savings. By organization and sufficient time, employes could buy out all employers.

Would things run smoothly if employes by purchase became their own employers? Not unless they united in an organization with almost military discipline to handle the management. Petty jealousies and rivalries would be fatal. Every business, to be efficient, must have a Real Boss at its head, the same as an army must have a staff presided over by a general with the power of decision.

Our original American settlers discarded the monarchy idea in government. But they brought over and clung to the monarchical system in business—the employer the ruler, employes his subjects. We are gradually in business getting a semblance of the democracy we have in government. Final attainment of the goal may be through the pooled buying power of employes.

FABLES ON HEALTH—CARRIAGE EXERCISES

Not long after Mr. Jones of Anytown had learned from his physical director the proper way to stand and walk he was introduced to several simple exercises that helped materially to keep the body in condition for maintaining this carriage.

For those others who may wish to follow Mr. Jones' example, the following brief outline of some of these exercises are here given:

1—Lie flat upon the back, raising the sitting posture for six or seven times. Then, turning face downward, make a bridge of your body by rising on arm. Again, returning to your back, arch the abdomen, resting on your shoulders and heels.

2—While still upon the floor, inhale slowly, raising the arms to a horizontal position and straightening them out at the sides again when exhaling. Breathe slowly and deeply, doing this exercise at the rate of about 10 a minute.

3—Taking a standing position, raise first the right and then the left leg and following this, thrust the arms above the head, swaying from side to side with an upward movement of the hips.

All of these have as their purpose the strengthening of the abdominal muscles which play the most important part in maintaining a constantly erect carriage.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON, CONTINUED
Here's something funny that I forgot to tell you. You remember that letter that Paula wrote me, asking me not to flirt with anyone. Well, the moment she got to the wedding she spotted Mrs. Atherton immediately, and said:

"So that is the woman you are flirting with? You do not know when you are well off. With a lovely wife, to go around flirting with a red-headed woman is more than I can forgive."

Can you beat that, Syd? Most men think they are handicapped with a wife. To look after their situation, but when a man's former sweetheart also takes up the cudgel for his wife, you can imagine he has some espionage to struggle against.

I wish you'd come over and stay with me, Syd, for a while, anyway till I get used to Leslie's being away. I have no one to talk to but mother, and she is the last woman I want to talk to under the circumstances, you know. Of course, if you won't come you must reconsider your determination not to write me, for I tell you, old man, I'm in great trouble, and I have always considered that you were the best friend any man ever had.

Sincerely, JACK.
Night Letter From Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott to Mrs. Leslie Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hess entertained at dinner Saturday evening at their home on Fifth Avenue Northwest complimentary to Mrs. J. C. Haskins and daughter, Helen, of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Charles Heister of Chicago. Covers were laid for sixteen guests and the evening was spent at cards.

LOSES FINGER
Miss Eva Nohoff, employed as a waitress at the Lewis and Clark hotel, so badly gashed two of the fingers of her left hand on the circular blade of a bread cutting machine that it was necessary to amputate the end of the second digit as a result. The accident occurred Sunday morning. The blade of the machine shaved the flesh off the end of the index finger and bared the bone of the second finger.

John Ainsley Master Thief

Copyright 1924, NEA Service Inc.

TO CATCH A THIEF

BEGIN HERE TODAY

John Ainsley, a man of education and breeding, becomes a master criminal—preying upon other thieves. At Monte Carlo he learns that some clever thief has stolen a pearl necklace from the Baronne d'Esterelle. Ainsley overhears a man posing as a Russian prince offer the use of his hotel apartment to a young Englishman and his American bride, who have lost all their money at roulette. Later the prince brings hotel attendants to the apartment, claiming that the young Englishman has stolen his keys. The prince offers to free the Englishman if he is allowed to take the young bride on a motor trip. This brings on a fight. Later the prince dismisses the charge. Ainsley wonders what is the nature of the prince's game.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

For I had no more desire to face a court, even in the role of witness, than I suspected the Prince had to stand before a judge as complainant. And if I offered testimony in support of young Beresford, such a plot was so flimsy, so vicious, that not even the Monagasques, willing to wink their eyes at almost any offense, if scandal could be thus averted, would ignore this. The French, for all that is written about their morals, have a respect for wifehood. They would insist that the Prince be brought to trial for conspiracy, and I would have to testify in court.

So, while I had no intention of permitting Beresford to be deported, under circumstances that would forever stain his name, I waited. There might be only one way of skinning this particular polecat, but I suspected that there might be another. And so, two hours later, while the hotel save, probably young Beresford, slept, I entered the Prince's rooms.

Like the cat which walks alone, I walked silently. Also my movements were quiet. I picked the lock with-out difficulty, and passed through the door. I found myself in a living-room, at the far side of which was an open door, through which I heard snoring. I tiptoed to it, peered through and entered the bedroom. A night-light was burning, and by its rays I could distinguish the screen behind which I had heard the Prince tell Beresford he was a trunk. Now that trunk had unquestionably contained a cash-box. But if it had contained anything else of value, would the Prince have rashly handed the Englishman his keys? If, for instance, the trunk had contained evidence which would indicate that its owner possessed unprincipally habits, would the Prince have given up the keys?

This action of mine was based on the theory, none too logically, I admitted, that the Prince was a criminal. Unless I should find proof in support of my theory, my nocturnal visit would be not merely dangerous but useless. And it was silly to look for evidence in the trunk.

If the Prince was what I thought him to be, proof in support of my belief would be found only upon his person. And it is a difficult thing to search a sleeping man without awakening him. Nevertheless I did it. And having done so, I rapidly clipped from his great black beard a tuft of his precious whiskers. Then I returned to my room.

Three minutes later I had broken two chairs, overturned a dressing-table, and smashed a pane of glass in the window. Also, I had shouted at the top of my lungs, and had aroused the valet de chambre who slept in a cubbyhole at the end of the corridor. He had aroused the night-clerks, and to these latter and to the porters who accompanied them, I poured forth my tale of nocturnal crime.

"I was awakened by the sound of footsteps. I saw a huge figure by the side of my bed. I attacked him. We fought. Behold, messieurs, the condition of my room." I gesticulated wildly, indicating the damage which I had just committed. "But it is outrageous, monsieur," cried one of the clerks. "That such a thing should happen in the Hotel de Paris is almost incredible. Was anything taken from Monsieur?"

"I doubt it," I replied, "that I will see." I felt in the pocket of my dinner jacket. "My purse," I cried, "with fifteen mille notes, a thousand francs plaque, and an express check for a thousand dollars."

"Could Monsieur identify the thief?" I looked at the clerk who put the question. I opened my hand. Upon my palm lay a tuft of black whiskers. "I tore these from his face in our struggle," I declared.

"Ah! they cried in unison. I glanced down upon the floor. Something caught my eye. "Look!" I cried.

A porter picked up the golden object. It was a pencil, richly chased. I bent over and from the floor picked up a visiting card, torn and crushed. Dramatically I smoothed it, and read the name, "Prince Meerkovitch."

"The thief's name," I exclaimed. "Prince Meerkovitch," cried one of the clerks. The others echoed his name. The second clerk assumed an air of great shrewdness.

"That is why, a thief himself, he was so intent to the Englishman," he said. "Ah, the canaille! We shall go to him!"

the mirror and note the gap in his bristling whiskers, and also asked him to observe the hair-trophy which I was supposed to have torn from his face, fear began to give way to anger. And the gold pencil with the broken links which fitted to his watch-chain, and his visiting card, were final proofs calculated, he was well aware, to convince any court in the world.

For a moment he must have believed that he had been walking in his sleep; but suddenly his hands felt at his waist, where, I had reason to know, he wore a money-belt.

"I am innocent," he cried. "I am the victim of a plot. It is I who have been robbed!"

He was standing beside his bed, pajama-clad. I shouldered my way in front of the others, and stared him in the eye.

"Monsieur states that it is he who has been robbed," I said softly. "May I ask Monsieur of what?"

His mouth opened; but words did not come from it for a moment. For nearly half a minute, wide-mouthed, he stared at me. And if he had looked venomously at Beresford earlier tonight, his regard of the young Englishman had been friendly as compared with the glance he gave me.

Then he replied: "Of nothing, monsieur."

"We shall take him at once to the jail," cried the clerk. "Two robbers in the same night in this hotel! But this thief shall not go free!"

"Wait," I told them, raising my hand in protest. I turned to the Prince.

"One forgives a repentant sinner," I told him. I spoke in English. "You are a thief caught practically in the act. Nothing can save your name. But you can save your skin. If you will state to these gentlemen the truth about Monsieur Beresford's entrance into your room, I, who have recovered the property which you stole from me, will forget the matter."

He stared at me. "So? Some day, monsieur, we shall meet again."

"But not at Monte Carlo," I told him. I looked at my watch. "It is now four o'clock. At four-thirty the de luxe train from Rome stops here en route to Paris. If you take that train, after having confessed your part in the matter, it is ended."

"Monsieur is a great detective," he sneered. "Set a thief to catch a thief."

"I am waiting for your answer," I interrupted him sternly.

And there could only be one answer. He accepted. He withdrew his charge against Beresford, packed his things, and took the train de luxe.

I left an order to be called at seven. I wished to talk to him. True, the young man was cleared of the charge of crime, but in his humiliation at being unable to pay his bill, he might slip quietly away. And at eight I knocked upon his door.

The management had already apologized for last night's contretemps, but it was a harassed-looking youth that admitted me to the apartment.

"I am an older man than you," I told him, "and wish the privilege of age."

His wife laughed. "You're not a day over thirty," she said. "Nevertheless, that is old enough for my purpose, which is to extract from you, youngster, a promise that you will never gamble again. In return for that promise I make you a present of ten thousand francs. Some day, you will see some unfortunate whom a few hundred dollars will save from misery. Give him the few hundred, and consider paid, your debt to me."

He was proud; but she—bless her heart!—had common sense. She bade him take the money, then looked at me.

"We can't thank you. You've cleared Jack's reputation, and you are enabling us to return to England. I think, Mr. Ainsley, that you are the finest man we know."

And I think that those words of hers were a source of more gratification to me than even the sight of the pearl necklace of the Baronne d'Esterelle.

What? But of course! In the Prince's money belt. That was why he cried, that he had been robbed. And it was also why when I asked him of what he had been robbed, he had replied, "Of nothing."

Even rage against me could not blind him to the fact that if he accused me of stealing the necklace from him, he would convict himself of having stolen it from the Baronne. It was also why he had said: "Set a thief to catch a thief."

Naturally, he would say that. A common thief cannot appreciate an artist.

BETTER CREAM IS MARKETING

Grade Being Improved By North Dakota Farmers

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 12.—Farmers of the state are marketing better quality cream this year than ever before, according to J. R. Dice of the dairy department at the North Dakota Agricultural College.

"It pays to produce good quality cream and also harvest days are busy days, we cannot afford to neglect the cream that is produced during August," declares Mr. Dice. "Aside from the weed and feed flavors in cream, the off flavors and taints are caused by bacteria or by yeast. The three ways to avoid these taints are by keeping the milk and cream clean and free from dirt and bacteria; by cooling the cream promptly and keeping it cold until it is delivered, and finally by marketing the cream often."

"Clean cows that are in good health and clean milkers are essential, but we should always bear in mind that about 70 percent of the bacteria that sour or spoil the milk and cream come from utensils. All dairy utensils should be cleaned and thoroughly scalded every day to avoid contaminating the milk."

"It is the bacteria that sours the milk or cream, but if the milk and cream are cooled and kept cold the bacteria cannot function so promptly and efficient cooling will keep milk and cream sweet. Cooling to 50 degrees Fahrenheit and holding at that temperature or below gives best results."

"Cream should be sold at least twice a week in order to have it reach the creamery in good shape. Some dairymen who sell whole milk and sweet cream for retail trade from cows pastured on sweet clover find that some people object to the flavor. This flavor can be avoided if the cows are taken off the sweet clover pasture three or four hours before milking."

SPREADING OF ROAD POLL TAX IS DISCUSSED

Not to be Placed on Records of County This Year, City Commission Informed

A brief report was made to the city commission, in meeting last night, on the question of the road poll tax of $1.50 levied each year. Much of it has not been collected, and the commission recently instructed the city assessor to collect it. Formerly it was collected by the police department.

City Assessor Falconer had reported that County Auditor Johnson would not spread the tax on the tax records this year. The auditor said that the townships would collect it individually this year, some counties levying it and some not. Mr. Falconer read a letter from the auditor of Cass county to the effect that it is not spread on the books there. The governing bodies do not want to lose the tax, required by law, and Mr. Falconer believes it ought to be placed on the books. City Attorney Young has been asked for an opinion on the entire matter.

A letter from the Hughes Electric Company stating that it had made new connections in an alley between Main and Broadway and desired to remove poles from Main street as soon as the city makes new connections to White Way lamps. This matter was deferred, until an estimate of the cost of making new connections can be obtained.

CAR STOLEN WHILE PARKED

The theft of a Ford touring car belonging to James Moore in Mandan last night also was reported.

FORMER N. D. MAN STRIKES WEALTH IN OIL

Bottineau, N. D., Aug. 12.—From a Bottineau county farmer of small means to a California oil magnate is the brief yet unique history of W. D. Nicholson, a former resident of Omenee, who has been located in southern California for the last seven years.

Mr. Nicholson made his first venture in the oil game five years ago. His first two ventures brought only grief. But having acquired 10 acres of land that gave promise of returns in the oil line, he stuck to it, though he turned the work of sinking wells over to a well financed company. His 10 acre plot is located on Signal Hill, that has recently become famous as an oil region. Three years ago a gusher was struck. Oil land experts state that Mr. Nicholson's land has oil sand to the depth of 1,800 feet and estimate that profitable production will last from 50 to 75 years. While in Bottineau, Mr. Nicholson admitted that he only recently turned down an offer of $1,000,000 for his acre oil tract.

There are 5280 head teachers under the London County Council.

Many cases of smallpox have been reported throughout England in recent months.

RUN FREIGHTS 2 DIVISIONS

Results in Change Being Made on N. P.

Fargo, Aug. 12.—While drastic changes are being made at division points in the western part of North Dakota and western Montana on the Northern Pacific railroad as to the forces employed at these places, the eastern part of the state, as far as Jamestown and Dillworth are concerned, will be little affected, according to officials of the road.

At Dickinson a big cut in the force of employees by the road at the roundhouse will be made shortly and the men employed, now numbering 47, will be reduced to 15 at this point while at Mandan the force will be materially enlarged, the officials said.

SEEK BETTER RAIL RATE ON DURUM WHEAT

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 12.—Efforts by manufacturers of macaroni products to enlarge the territory in which they will be a terminal for the handling of durum wheat products are the basis of two cases which have been brought before examiners of the interstate commerce commission recently which may directly affect farmers of North Dakota, G. E. Peterson, traffic commissioner of the Fargo Commercial club, declared today. Manufacturers in Illinois, Wisconsin and Nebraska are fighting for lower freight rates on their products, asserting that the present rates are unreasonable as compared to those which hold for flour and cereal products. The macaroni men contend that their marketing territory is now restricted because of the freight rates on their products. Mr. Peterson explained. "As North Dakota growers know, the main domestic market for durum wheat which is one of the state's main crops, lies in the manufacture of macaroni and similar products," Mr. Peterson said. "Good prices for durum depend then very largely on a stimulation of macaroni sales. If a difference in freight rates actually affects the per capita consumption as definitely as the manufacturers contend, then the cases which are now held under advisement by the commission are of great interest to this state."

"The cases submitted by the manufacturers state that the per capita consumption of durum products in the United States is only four to six pounds annually as compared to 30 to 50 pounds in several of the European countries. The manufacturers insist that the readjustment in rates which they are seeking will increase the use of durum products because it will increase their market and the extent of their territory."

After banking hours patrons of the institution are permitted to deposit their money in a chute which runs direct to the vault, where the money rests safely. The service resulted from the request of merchants who desired to make deposits at night rather than place large sums of money in small safes until the next day.

DISCUSSES BENEFITS OF COUNTRY LIFE

Sir John Russell Says That Principles of Agriculture Vie with Wildest Romance

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 12.—The British Association for the Advancement of Science listened today to an address by Sir John Russell, president of the agricultural section, who devoted his remarks largely to the benefits to be derived from agricultural science.

After tracing the problems confronting the agriculturist and pointing out the great value of combined co-operation between the great institutions devoted to agricultural science in the various countries of the world, Sir John said in conclusion:

"The purpose to discover the principles underlying the great facts of agriculture gives the investigator full latitude and it justifies an investigation whether the results will be immediately useful or not so long as they are trust worthy. For the upraising of country life necessitates a higher standard of education for the countryman; and education based on the wonderful Book of Nature which lies open to all to read if they but could. How many farmers know anything about the remarkable structure of the soil they till, of its fascinating history, of the teeming population of living organisms that dwell in its dark recesses; of the wonderful wheel of life revolving perpetually throughout the seasons in which the plant takes up dead simple substances and in some mysterious way fashions them into foods for men and animals and packs them with energy drawn out of the sunlight, energy which enables us to move and work, to drive engines, motor cars and all the other complex agencies of modern civilization?"

"We none of us know much about these things; but if we knew more, and if we could tell it as it deserves to be told, we should have a story that would make the wildest romance of human imagination seem dull by comparison and would dispell for ever the notion that the country is a dull place to live in. Agricultural science must be judged not so much by its material achievements as by its success in revealing to the countryman something of the wonder and the mystery of the great open spaces in which he dwells."

Gold Production On Decrease in United States

New York, Aug. 12.—Canada by 1926 will displace the United States as second among the gold producing countries of the world, in the opinion of Louis D. Hunkton, New York mining engineer and a former professor of mining and metallurgy at Yale University. Canada is now third, Africa ranking first.

Mr. Hunkton, after a prolonged study of the Dominion's gold districts, reports his conclusions in the official journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Canada's output of gold is increasing rapidly, he says, while in the United States since 1915 there has been a rapid decline.

Art Gives Way To Convenience

Rome, Aug. 12.—The famous Doge's monument, which for 30 years has been the first object of art to greet thousands of tourists as they stepped off the train in Rome—it stands just opposite the main railway station—is to be removed to another part of the city to make room for a street car line.

The monument, a slender Egyptian obelisk of exceptional grace of line, was erected in honor of the first 500 Italian soldiers killed in the battle of Dogali, during the Abyssinian war.

Seek Substitute For Alcohol In Flavorings

Madison, Wis., Aug. 12.—Tests are under way at the University of Wisconsin in an effort to discover a substitute for grain alcohol in flavoring extracts, according to Prof. H. A. Schuetz of the university chemical department. Research work on the project has been in progress several months. The problem on which the university is working is to find some solvent for various oils used in flavoring extract. Alcohol is declared to be the most satisfactory substance thus far discovered because oils of lemon, orange, peppermint, spearmint, almond, winter green and other popular oils used in extracts are not soluble in water.

No Monopoly in Oil

"I am told that the Standard Oil Company has practically all the refineries. Is this true?" a correspondent asks the Oil and Gas Journal.

Reply is made in issue of June 19, as follows: "It certainly is not. In the first place when you mention the Standard Oil Company you are speaking of several companies which, since the dissolution decree United States Supreme Court of 1911, are as separate in their ownership and control as any of the several thousand oil companies which operate in the United States."

"No company bearing the name of 'Standard' including its subsidiary organizations has more than 11 refineries in the United States. There are several of the so-called 'independent' Companies which have from 5 to 9 refineries. According to the Oil and Gas Journal's compilation of May 1, there are 574 refineries in the United States of which 382 were operating on that date. Of this number only 39 belong to the several Standard Oil Companies and their subsidiary organizations. Thus you see that approximately only 1 out of 15 refineries belong to the Standard Companies."

The Standard Oil Companies loom much larger in the public mind than is warranted by the percentage of their refineries as compared with all other oil companies.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has but six refineries—Whiting, Indiana; Sugar Creek, Missouri; Wood River, Illinois; Casper, Wyoming; Greybull, Wyoming; and Laramie, Wyoming.

The oil industry of today is of such vast proportions as almost to defy figures. Perhaps that is why it appeals so strongly to the imagination.

As the oil industry is organized today, a monopoly in oil, whether crude or refined, is beyond possibility. The industry is too enormous for dictation by any one company or any group of companies. It is too big and too varied for "understandings". It is too big for anything but the keenest sort of competition, and for the winning and holding of business through service.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is strictly a competitive organization of service. That it is able to compete profitably with other oil companies is due solely to its initiative in invention of new methods and processes, and to its superior organization for the refining and distribution of oil products. In both of these capacities it is rendering an essential service to the thirty million people of the Middle West in such a way as to have gained their respect, confidence and esteem.
